SLASHES MADE IN FUNDS FOR 4 DEPARTMENTS

Senate Group Approves 10 Per Cent Reduction in Supply Bill

DRY LAW FUND IS CUT Hoover Preparing for Tomorrow's Meeting on Economy Proposals

Washington—(AP)—The drive for slashes in government expenditures gained additional momentum today at the White House and capitol.

meeting, armed himself with new facts on cutting expenses in preparation for the meeting tomorrow with the special house economy committee.

At the same time, a senate appropriations subcommittee approved a 10 per cent reduction in the $124-000,000 supply bill for the state, justice, commerce and labor departments next year. It included a $1-000,000 cut in the prohibition enforcement fund, reducing the total to $10,000,000.

Meanwhile, Chairman McDuffie said the house economy committee was considering a retrenchment program estimated to save between $175,000,000 and $200,000,000 for presentation to President Hoover tomorrow.

Senator Jones (R., Wash.), author of the "five and ten" enforcement law, is chairman of the full appropriations committee and of the subcommittee which made the cut in the four department supply bill. It was one of the two senate sent back to committee with instructions to slash 10 per cent from the total as passed by the house.

The 10 per cent reduction was applied rather generally down the line with some exceptions, which were made up by large cuts in a few cases.

Salaries of judges, which are fixed by law, and appropriations for prisons were excepted.

Figures Not Revealed
The detailed figures of the subcommittee's action will not be made public until passed on tomorrow by the full committee.

The cut in the prohibition fund came as somewhat of a surprise, as opposition to it had been expressed on the senate floor by those who sponsored the economy move.

Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), author of the motion to send the bill back to committee, announced he would oppose reductions in the fund for enforcement of the dry laws.

The senate rejected a motion to eliminate virtually all appropriations for prohibition enforcement when the bill was before it.

McDuffie told newspapermen the economy committee aimed to effect economies in the fiscal year 1933 to aid in wiping out the treasury's anticipatory deficit.

Here are some of the moves for reducing government spending now in President Hoover's mind, many of them requiring new laws:

Alteration of veterans bureau activities designed to save between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 a year.

Consolidations of hospitalization and other veterans activities, not requiring legal changes, designed to save several million more.

Decrease in agriculture department outlays for agricultural experiment stations and other activities.

Possible alteration of the activities of rural mail carriers, designed to have several millions more.

Shrinking both army and navy appropriations, despite his public statement that the $700,000,000 outlay was necessary for the national defense.

White House today declined to discuss the economy drive. They were equally reticent concerning the display of their new "economy yardsticks."

STIMSON READY TO LEAVE FOR GENEVA

Washington—(AP)—Secretary
Stimson said farewell early today to President Hoover and received final instructions before leaving for New York to sail tonight for the Geneva conference.

The secretary, who has been dispatched by President Hoover to seek "some concrete and definite results, even though they may not be revolutionary," from the disarmament parley, was silent upon leaving the White House concerning any new ideas he may be carrying to Geneva.

President Hoover, in speaking recently of Stimson's trip, asserted the world's economic burden and the menace to world peace had increased since the preparatory negotiations and "more definite steps" were needed toward reducing world armaments and promoting the spirit of peace.

Stimson will join Norman Davis, one of the American delegates, in New York this afternoon and they will sail together.

Chicago Judiciary Split On Crime Quiz

DEcriES USE OF SMITH'S NAME IN PRIMARIES

Senator Pittman Says Party Hasn't Been "Fair" to New Yorker

Washington—(AP)—Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, said in an interview today that the manner in which Alfred E. Smith's name had been used in the Democratic presidential primaries was not "fair" to the 1928 standard bearer and Smith's friends should no longer expect him to contest for delegates.

Pittman, an admirer of Smith, and the man who notified him of his nomination four years ago at Albany, said supporters of the former New York governor "should no longer expect this great leader, who will always have a powerful influence in our party, further to contest when he is not a candidate for the nomination and will make no campaign."
"I have long hesitated to give any personal expression relative to the primaries that have been conducted," he said, "but I am fond of Governor Smith and I greatly admire him. I do not think the use of his powerful name in the Democratic primaries in the manner in which it has been used is fair to him."

"He is a man who loves and is loyal to his friends, and therefore you cannot expect him to do anything that will interfere with them using his name for any Democratic purpose."

The Nevadan, an influential member of the Democratic party, and chairman of the resolutions committee in the last national convention, said he was "far more interested in obtaining the strongest candidate than in the ambitions of friends of any candidate."

"The strength of candidates is a developing proposition," he added.
"Until this development has gone far enough it is only a question of guess and prophecy."

ANTIGO PARTIALLY COVERED BY WATER

Large Section of Business Region Flooded After Unusually Heavy Rain

Antigo—(AP)—A large area of Antigo's downtown district today was covered by flood water which overflowed the banks of Spring brook after an unusually heavy rain.

Nearly 40 dwellings and business buildings were surrounded by water which in some places was six feet deep. Residents of first floor apartments in the Neff Roberts building, a three story structure, were forced to flee with their belongings.

Spring brook ordinarily flows through a culvert under the Neff Roberts building and under Fifth-ave. It was necessary to route traffic on Fifth-ave, a business thoroughfare. Basements were flooded and merchants were busy yesterday salvaging perishable goods.

A mill pond dam some distance above Fifth-ave remained firm. At one point in the shore of the pond, however, the water broke through.
The pond is banked with partly decomposed saw dust and slabs.

Residents recalled similar floods and predicted there would be no serious consequences from this one.

SLAYER EXECUTED

Hull, Que.—(AP)—Austin Cassidy, 33, of Ottawa, was hanged at 5:21
a. m. today, because he had killed Bert Marshall in an argument over a trivial automobile accident a year and a half ago.

Mellon Not In Europe To Settle Reparations And Debts Problems, He Says

London—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, new American ambassador to Great Britain, took advantage of the first opportunity that he had to offer himself today to say that he did not come to Europe to solve the reparations and war debts problems.

Hardly a week welcoming ceremonies at Southampton and London over before the former secretary of the United States treasury got right to work at the American embassy. One of his first acts was to receive British and American correspondents there.

Then the new envoy called upon Sir John Simon, Great Britain's secretary for foreign affairs, to find out about arrangements for presentation of his credentials to King George.

When the ambassador submitted to questions of the correspondents their queries ranged over his social plans and incidental matters until a reporter for one of the big London dailies told Mr. Mellon that Europe regarded him as a special ambassador on war debts and reparations.

"Who did you say invented that story?" asked Mr. Mellon quietly.
"I have no special instructions to deal with financial question."

"I realize I am fortunate in coming here at this time. Relations between our two governments were never better, and while we both face problems of a most serious nature, arising largely out of the war, these problems are not insoluble and must disappear if we approach them frankly with an effort to understand each other's difficulties and a firm determination to be of assistance where we can."

"It will be the greatest satisfaction to me if I can be of any help in promoting such a working understanding between this country and my own."

As for court dress, which the late Ambassador Harvey made famous by not wearing, Mr. Mellon said he had not devoted much thought to it, but would wear whatever was appropriate.

Asked whether liquors would be served on the table at the embassy, Mr. Mellon said he probably would follow the custom of the country.

"I haven't any as yet," he said,
"but I suppose it is obtainable, which is not the case in my own country."

The British press has given more attention to Mr. Mellon's arrival than it has to that of any American ambassador since the World War, many papers featuring his great wealth and interpreting his long career in business and politics in great detail.

REICH MAY BUY BOARD'S WHEAT

Will Take 10 or 15 Million Bushels if Credits
Are Available

Washington—(AP)—If satisfactory credits can be arranged Germany may buy between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 bushels of farm board stabilization wheat.

Discussion of additional purchases has gone on at intervals since that government bought 7,500,000 bushels last September. George S. Milnor, general manager of the Grain Stabilization corporation, talked with German officials in Berlin yesterday.

Prospects for consummating a new deal appeared today to hinge around the extension of credits by private bankers.

At the board, it was said long time credits similar to the transaction made last fall could not be financed by it and in view of its stabilization investments it could consider only cash sales.

Milnor has been in Europe for the last three weeks surveying wheat markets, chiefly in connection with export sales of the farmers' national grain corporation, central sales agency for grain cooperatives, of which he is also general manager.

In a telephone conversation with Stones, Milnor reported that prospective circulation of the petitions toward the city clerk recall petitions bearing more than 1,100 valid signatures.

Citizens who were dissatisfied over the board's dismissal of Julius Win-den, head of the school system, sponsored circulation of the petitions.
John E. Schnable, Jr., also opposed to Superintendent Winden, was defeated for reelection to the board Tuesday.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS RECALL ELECTION IN

Wisconsin Rapids—(AP)—A recall election to determine whether Guy Nash, president, W. J. Taylor and Arthur C. Madson shall be ousted from membership on the school board will be held here Tuesday, May 17.

The date of the referendum was set by the city council after County Judge Frank W. Calkins had certified to the city clerk recall petitions bearing more than 1,100 valid signatures.

JUDGE DEFIES SUPERIOR AND ORDERS PROBE

Feinberg Ignores Colleagues' Vote to Transfer Jurisdiction

Chicago—(AP)—Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg impaneled a special grand jury today to delve into charges of gangland terrorism in the primary campaign.

This impaneling, in defiance of Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the criminal court, and his own colleagues on the circuit bench, created an open conflict among the judiciary.

John E. Plunkett, an official of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, was made a foreman of the special jurors. Instead of using jury rooms in the criminal court building, Judge Feinberg ordered the special grand jury to meet in the county building, in the loop.

Deputy sheriffs sent by Chief Justice Fisher with an order for the special jurors to appear in his courtroom, and not in that of Judge Feinberg, arrived too late.

Louis E. Hart, a new figure in public life, was given charge of the special quiz.

In addition to alleged terrorist tactics in the campaign, the quiz was directed to include charges made by State's Attorney John A. Swanson that Feinberg had mishandled bank receiverships, racketeering in labor unions and vice.

Last night, Feinberg's colleagues on the circuit bench voted to transfer the special quiz to the jurisdiction of Fisher's court.

Feinberg's answer was:
"No man has a right to interfere with this court's work."

To the 23 members of the special grand jury, Feinberg said:
"If there is any attempt made to interfere with you by any officer, or anyone else, or if anyone seeks to summon you anywhere but to this court, I want you to notify this court immediately."

This quiz furnished the climax of the campaign between Feinberg and Swanson for the Republican state's attorney's nomination. Swanson is the incumbent.

Chief Justice Fisher retaliated with an order quashing the special venue and setting aside appointment of Hart as special prosecutor. He announced he would himself order a special venire of 100 next Monday and appoint as Prosecutor Floyd E.
Thompson, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court.

2 BROTHERS SLAIN IN THEIR SPEAKEASY

Beer Running or Labor Politics Possible Motives in Chicago Murders

Chicago—(AP)—Shotgun slugs, fired at close range brought death
last night to Benjamin Applequist, 43, and his brother, Ernest, 40, apparently while they were tending bar in their small speakeasy. Their slayers escaped.

Evidently the killers posed as customers, but what their motive was remained a puzzle to police. Labor politics and beer running were suggested.

The police said they learned that Benjamin Applequist had recently told a friend that "Dago" Lawrence, Manganaro, a "public enemy" and Capone henchman, had warned him to quit selling beer. He said he quit, but hoped to start up again. Manganaro was being sought.

Ernest Applequist until recently was head of the City Chauffeurs union, leading police to conclude that labor politics might be involved.

Meanwhile David Jacobson, missing bartender for the brothers, was sought.

AUTO STRIKES CHILD, DRIVER IS ARRESTED

Lebanon, Ind.—(AP)—John E.
Anderson, 63, of Williams Bay, Wis., was placed under $5,000 bond yesterday after his automobile struck and seriously injured 5-year-old Veronica Williams as she alighted from a school bus in front of her home near here.

Anderson was charged with failure to stop while a school bus was disappearing pupils. He said he did not recognize the vehicle as a school bus.

6TH CENTURY CHURCH IS BURNED IN SPAIN

Seville, Spain—(AP)—The sixth century church of San Julian, one of the oldest and most cherished by Seville's citizens, was destroyed by fire last night and it was believed many statues and pictures, among them some of the rarest works of art in Spain, were destroyed. The fire was incendiary, gasoline had been scattered through the church and ignited.

AWAIT FURTHER KIDNAP PARLEY

Intermediaries Adopt Policy of Watchful Waiting for Developments

Hopewell, N. J.—(AP)—Three intermediaries seeking the kidnapped Lindbergh baby awaited a new summons to parley today, while in Hopewell optimism ebbed.

The three—Read Admiral Guy H.
Burrage, John H. Curtis and the Rev. H. Dobson Peacock, all of Norfolk—have not abandoned hope of getting Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., back through a person who approached them and represented himself as a go-between for the kidnappers.

All three were in Norfolk, pursuing a watchful waiting policy, while publics who express skepticism about that angle of the search went on with the endless task of checking and rechecking leads.

Mr. Curtis has announced twice that he has had contact with the person he believes to be acting for the kidnappers, and that he was assured the baby was well. Today he was awaiting a call from another secret rendezvous. Admiral Burrage said Col. Lindbergh had asked the Norfolk men to continue their efforts.

Development were so scarce a new white gate on the Lindbergh property was the hottest news. It was put up after a motorist drove right in with a suggestion for the colonel.
He wanted a piece of the baby's clothes to attach to a bell in a church at Newton, N. J. Then he would ring the bell until it struck remorse into the hearts of the kidnappers.

State troopers escorted him away from there.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, disclosed in his morning bulletin that an investigation had been launched into the death of the baby, for which he denied the Lindbergh home last Tuesday. He said Henry "Red"
Johnson, water carrier of Kearsy Ferry Gow, had been turned over to federal immigration authorities in the Newark prison who held out for questioning. Johnson is charged with illegal entry into the United States.

Search for Harry Fischer, purported member of a Detroit Purple gang, is extending along the eastern seaboard. Schwarzkopf said. Police sought to check Fischer's activities on the night of the kidnapping. Yesterday they said he had been seen several times since the kidnapping.

2 BROTHERS KILLED IN ARKANSAS STORM

Lepanto, Ark.—(AP)—Two brothers were killed and seven people were injured last yesterday in a severe storm near here.

Enoch Ferguson, 22, and Earl Ferguson, 23, were struck by lightning as they worked on their plantation. The same bolt injured John Farrell, 16, and Henry Farrell, 17, brothers.

Terrific wind demolished the home of Sawm McGraw on the outskirts of Lepanto during a family reunion and five persons were injured. Fifteen others in the house escaped injury.

DUCE ORDERS ABANDONMENT OF ANCIENT ITALIAN TOWN

Santo Stefano Italy.—(AP)—Complete abandonment of this two thousand year old town of 2,499 people was ordered by Premier Mussolini today following the collapse of its central district last week into ancient caverns with which it is undermined.

The premier's order was issued after experts found that the partially wrecked town rests on volcanic rock honeycombed with caverns which may collapse at any moment and swallow the remaining 200 houses left standing after last week's catastrophe.

A dozen houses tumbled into the gaping earth on March 29 and since then 50 others whose walls were cracked have gradually fallen into ruins. No one was injured in the collapse, for at the first rumble of the cracking ground over the main cavern in the town's center, the people fled to the outskirts.

PARADE BEHIND BANDS TO U. S. CAPITOL WITH PETITIONS

Majority Spokesmen of Both Houses Pledge Consideration for Plea

Washington—(AP)—Marching behind bands, over a thousand veterans went to the capitol today with a truckload of petitions urging cash payment of the bonus and were promised by many of the spokesmen of the house and senate their plea would receive consideration.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsors of the demonstration, said there were nearly 7,500,000 signatures on the petitions delivered in 20 packing cases.

They were delivered to Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, and the speaker of the House, and Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, who were grouped on the capitol steps with other members from both branches of congress.

President Hoover a few days ago urged that legislation for payment of the bonus be not passed at this time, and Henry L. Stevens, national commander of the American legion, also had opposed it.

Offers Petitions Surrounded by more than one hundred banners, including the American flag, and colors of American legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts, Representative Rainey and Senator McNary received the petitions from Paul C. Wolman, past commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"We wish to present to you these petitions bearing 2,249,030 signatures from every state in the Union," Wolman said.
"In behalf of the United States, I am happy to receive the petitions," McNary said.

FALSE RUMORS ON DOLLAR HIT IN NEW YORK

Bankers Irritated by Report Published and Later Denied in Paris

New York—(AP)—Wall Street international bankers said today they would leave no stone unturned in their effort to protect the American dollar in foreign money markets against the insidious spread of false rumors, such as the rumor published yesterday in Paris that a large American bank had suspended payments.

While they were not prepared to say an organized attack was in process, they did not hesitate to express irritation over the Paris article which coincided with other specially written articles purporting to show the dollar is in weak position.

They expressed their gratification, however, that the French government was reported to have taken prompt action designed to set the French public straight on the falseness of some of the rumors now afloat in that and other countries.

Bankers also said the publication of the false bank report had some reassuring aspects. For one thing, they said, it showed part of the recent selling of the dollar which had come from France was based on misinformation, and not fact. They reasoned that this selling was largely speculative, and within the true facts once placed before the public, it would cease.

A spokesman for the American bank which had been named in the Paris article said his institution was making no statement of any kind. It was pointed out a public apology had been made and that, so far as the bank was concerned the matter was now closed.

PAR PUBLISHERS DENIAL FIRE

Paris—(AP)—L'Ouvre, a small newspaper of nationalist tendencies, issued a denial today of a statement it printed yesterday saying the National City bank of New York had suspended payments.

In making the denial the paper extended its "most sincere apologies to the National City and to our readers."

The statement was printed yesterday, coincidentally, with extracts from an article by Sir Walter Layton, British economist, on the situation and prospects of the dollar, in which he foreshadowed its fall.

Prompt denial of the statement was made in financial circles yesterday and it was said the French government was asked to investigate the origin of the report, which was not printed by other financial or other newspapers.

ECUADORIAN PORT ORDERED CLOSED

Action Taken After Naval Mutineers Seize British Oil Tanker

Guayaquil Ecuador—(AP)—The Port authorities, acting under extraordinary powers granted the government by the council of state at Quito, closed this port to all traffic today. Meanwhile the Ecuadorian navy, manned by mutineers, remained in control of the harbor and port at Punta Prinda.

Yesterday the rebels seized an oil tanker, a British, and later with its cargo and provisions. It was to prevent a recurrence of raids of that kind that the port was ordered disclosed.

All traffic found in past Punta Prinda, where the water is two miles wide, will be diverted away in an effort to starve the rebels out.

Yesterday the mutineers seized the gunboats (the naval base) and seized control of the harbor and port in with General Leonidas Plaza Gutierrez, former president.
The authorities thought the mutiny was inspired by the general's political opponents although he professed to have no political motive in returning from San Francisco where

JURORS CHOSEN FOR TRIAL OF FOUR ACCUSED

Presence of Alienists Indicates Possible Insanity Plea by One Defendant

Honolulu—(AP)—It is barely possible the world may never know who killed Joseph Kahahawai, a reliable source revealed today following selection of a jury to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue, eastern society matron, and three naval men on charges of lynching the young Hawaiian.

This source revealed that not even Clarence Darrow, gray-haired leader of the defense, was certain how far he would go in refuting the second degree murder case against his clients.

However, two alienists who figured in sensational "murder trials" for the southwest United States were here today to confer with Darrow, indicating that the defense prepared, if necessary, to have one of the four accused admit the shooting and plead emotional insanity. Only if forced to this last resort is the defense expected to reveal one of the quartet as the slayer of Kahahawai.

Court adjourned until Monday following the unexpected completion of the jury yesterday. The jury is predominantly Caucasian, an unusual circumstance for this mid-Pacific place of east and west.

Several times it contains representation of six nationalities or races—five of American descent, three Chinese, one Dane, one Portuguese, one German and a Hawaiian.

The jury is the result of four days of maneuvering between Darrow, who tried to seat as many Anglo-Saxons as possible, and Prosecutor John C. Kelley, whose leanings were toward orientals and Hawaiians. They examined 33 veniremen.

The ultimate selection was far better than the defense expected, Darrow having predicted not more than three Anglo-Saxons would be seated.

Silent on Alienists

He and others of the defense declined to comment upon the arrival of the two alienists last night on the liner Malolo. The two are Dr. Edgar Huntington Williams and Dr. James Orin, both of Los Angeles. They figured in the trial several years ago of William Edward Hickman, who hanged for kidnaping and killing Marion Parker, a Los Angeles school girl. Dr. Williams also testified in the trial at Phoenix, Ariz., of Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned "trunk slayer."

Whether they will appear in the Fortescue trial, none would say, but their appearance here was interpreted as showing that the defense was preparing for any emergency.

Even if they are called, Prosecutor Kelley has indicated he will not call alienists for the territory on the theory such testimony would have little influence on a jury of mixed races.

The evidence against Mrs. Fortescue, Mrs. Thomas H. Massie, her son-in-law, and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, sailors, is entirely circumstantial since no witnesses of the territory has summoned saw the shooting of Kahahawai, as far as known.

Throughout the questioning of witnesses, the prosecution's awareness that its case was circumstantial was made fairly obvious by one question Kelley regularly put to the witnesses: "Are you willing to convict on circumstantial evidence alone if you are so instructed by the court?"

If a defense plea, for a directed verdict fails, it may enter a plea of emotional insanity by one defendant covering the period after Kahahawai was enticed to the Fortescue house, where he was allegedly taken in an effort to obtain a confession that he was implicated in an assault last September on Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the lieutenant.

After court opens at 9 o'clock Monday morning (2:30 p. m., eastern standard time) Kelley said he would begin testimony. He expects to take about three days to complete.

List of Jurors

The jury which will try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three naval men on charges of slaying Joseph Kahahawai:

- John Stone, 43, American assistant secretary of a steamship company, having a high school education.
- Charles Strohm, 51, American engineer, high school education.
- Shadford Waterhouse, 26, American, alumnus of Princeton.

The somewhat warped and ragged composition floor covering in the police station is to be replaced at a cost of approximately $170. An appropriation for that amount was voted by the common council at its meeting last Wednesday evening.

Hit by Mayor

Mayor George Watkins of Tulsa, Okla., faces charges of assault and battery filed by Gus Fields, reporter on the Tulsa Tribune, who claims the mayor knocked him down when angered by a question about the city's financial condition, and a former sailor and football player, shown in top picture, once worked with Fields as city hall reporter for the Tribune before entering politics. Fields is shown below.

BOY RESCUED FROM DROWNING IN RIVER

Archie Kapp Pulls Youngster from Water With Umbrella

Clarence Gebert, Jr., 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gebert, Sr., 212 S. Badger-ave, was rescued from the Fox river at 5:30 Thursday afternoon by Archie Kapp, 614 W. Fifth-st. Members of the fire department revived the boy with a lungmoter.

The Gebert boy, accompanied by three playmates, was walking on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad trestle over the Fox river, south of the city pumping station and filtration plant when the boy tumbled over a bolt and fell headlong into the river.

Cries of Frederick Gebert, Richard Grace and Edward D. Swart, the youngster's brother and playmates, attracted Kapp, who also was walking on the trestle. Kapp climbed under the trestle and hauled the youngster out of the water with his umbrella. The water is eight feet deep under the trestle.

The boy was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, and later was moved to his home. He is suffering from exposure.

TRANSIENT STRUCK BY MENASHA AUTO

Suffers Severe Scalp Wound and Possible Skull Fracture

Simon Litersky, 41, a transient, received a severe scalp wound and possible skull fracture at 8 o'clock last night while walking west on Highway 41, east of Little Chute, when he was struck by a car owned and driven by Andrew Stachowicz, Jr., 127 First-st, Menasha. Litersky is in St. Elizabeth hospital.

Litersky was walking on the left side of the highway, when Stachowicz, driving in the same direction, swung his car to the left in an attempt to pass another machine. He said he did not see the man until he started around the other machine.

The fire department was summoned to the S. J. Mathews residence at 538 N. Richmond-st at 6 o'clock Thursday evening to extinguish a blaze on an ironing board. An overheated iron ignited the board. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals.

A blaze in a rubbish heap in the rear of the Glondemann-Gage Co. store was extinguished by the department at 7:35 last night. It is believed the fire started from a gasoline torch standing near the gas-

CHICAGO WINS TWO DECISIONS

Court Upholds Assessment Rolls and Ward Redistricting of City

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—The Illinois Supreme court today ruled in favor of Chicago in two important decisions.

First, the court held the 1929 assessment rolls of Cook-co, of which Chicago is the seat, were constitutional.

Then, the court held valid the redistricting of Chicago in 50 wards.

In upholding the constitutionality of the 1929 tax rolls, the court refused the request of 5,000 taxpayers for an injunction to restrain the county treasurer from obtaining a tax judgment.

The taxpayers charged that for a long period of years, particularly in 1929, the board of assessors deliberately, fraudulently and illegally omitted to assess or under-assessed property.

Justice Frederic R. DeYoung of Chicago, wrote the supreme court's opinion, sustaining the assessment and affirming the circuit court of Cook-co.

"The contention that the assessments upon the lots and parcels of land in Cook county are void because there was discrimination in favor of personal property is not tenable," Justice DeYoung said.

Opponents of the redistricting of Chicago into 50 wards contended that the divisions created by the ordinance were so unequal in population that they were unlawful and void.

The court pointed out that the total population of Chicago is 3,447,854, and that dividing this figure by 50 would give an average population of 68,959 to each ward.

"An examination of the schedule of population for each of the 50 wards set up in the amended bill shows eight of the new wards are within the figures and hence approximate the average," the court said.

TRUCK DRIVER HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Jack Bergacker Receives Chest Injuries, Cuts and Bruises

Jack Bergacker, 27, 623 N. Mason-st, is in St. Elizabeth hospital with injuries received about 9:45 last night when the truck he was driving for the Service Bakery Co. and a machine owned and operated by Frank Schiedermayer, 204 N. Summit-st, collided in front of 1011 E. Wisconsin-ave. Bergacker received chest injuries, cuts and bruises about the body when the truck turned over on top of him.

Bergacker, driving west on E. Wisconsin-ave, was attempting to pass Schiedermayer's car when the accident occurred, according to police. After colliding with the other machine, the bakery truck rolled over on its side, pinning Bergacker underneath. Passing motorists extricated him from the wreckage and he was taken to the hospital.

NO DIVORCE IN PARIS FOR NORMA TALMADGE

Hollywood—(AP)—There will be no Paris divorce in the life of Norma Talmadge, former screen actress.

When she gets ready to take steps for a legal separation from Joseph M. Schenck, film producer, she will go to America's divorce capital, Reno, Miss Talmadge said on her arrival here from Palm Beach and New York.

Miss Talmadge recently announced in New York that she planned a divorce. She and her husband have been separated several years.

Her arrival in Hollywood was the occasion of a Talmadge family reunion. She was met by her mother, Mrs. Peg Talmadge; her two sisters, Constance Talmadge Netcher and Natalie Talmadge Keaton, wife of Buster Keaton, the comedian. Keaton and his two sons, Joe and Robert, also were present.

Wisconsin Weather
Fair, slightly warmer northwest and extreme west portions tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness and somewhat warmer.

General Weather
The "low" which was centered over southern Wisconsin yesterday morning has moved eastward and now overlies Lake Erie. This disturbance has caused general rains during the past 24 hours over nearly all sections east of the Mississippi River and warmer over the lower lakes and upper Ohio Valley. Fair weather prevails this morning over all sections from the Mississippi River westward to the Pacific coast. It is colder this morning over the Mississippi Valley but temperatures are near or above the seasonal normal over the central and western states. Continued fair weather is expected in this section tonight and Saturday, with rising temperature.

Cosmic Rays Shatter Atoms, Scientific Photos Reveal

New York—(AP)—One hundred forty-eight photographs catching cosmic rays in the act of smashing matter have been taken at Rice institute, Houston, Texas.

The pictures go far toward clinching proofs that these invisible rays not only drive ceaselessly through the bodies of all living things, but that they disrupt any atom therein which they happen to meet head-on.

For years proofs have been gathering that the rays drive in from outer space in a rain that is uniform alike by day and night, and that they can penetrate several feet of lead, or anything equivalent.

So little has been known about them up to date that no scientific investigations have been possible of their effects on human health. In cancer journals a suggestion has been published, and promptly discredited, that they might have something to do with cancer's increase.

At Rice institute, Dr. Gordon L. Locher sets two metal-enclosed gas chambers one above the other. The top one is a Geiger-Muller counter, which gives an audible click when a cosmic ray penetrates it.

The under chamber is a photographic room, where the same cosmic ray penetrates after piercing the Geiger-Muller counter. The click serves to tag the ray, making doubly sure the identity of the source of the snap-shot taken immediately afterward by the cameras waiting below.

There are two cameras, set at different angles, so that the picture is "stereoscopic," showing two dimensions of the direction of the flying thing which passes the cameras' eyes.

These flying things act like particles of some sort. They make vapor through which they whiz.

Dr. Locher exhibits some of these pictures and draws conclusions about them in the physical review, a scientific journal. He says they appear to be fragments of atoms, smashed by impact of the cosmic ray.

The stereoscopic cameras show that more than one of these particles often flies off from the same collision. This Dr. Locher takes as indication that the ray penetrates somehow into the heart of the atom, disrupting part of its nucleus.

His present evidence favors belief that the particles are electrons. In the view of scientists who have commented upon them, the particles might also be protons, or the recently discovered neutrons or possibly fragments of a cosmic ray itself.

The scientific objective at Rice institute is to measure the energy of these particles. Accurate data on this energy may lead to deducing the origin of the cosmic rays, which originally carry and impart these energies.

WON'T EXTEND DETROIT LOANS

Reduction in Salaries Likely as Result of Stand by Bankers

Detroit—(AP)—Faced with the flat refusal of bankers to extend further loans until the city's budget is balanced, Detroit city officials today said a general reduction in city salaries, possibly as high as one-third, is imminent.

Pointing out that the city agreed to balance its budget when it obtained loans amounting to more than $52,000,000 since last November, Chicago, New York and local bankers presented a statement to the city council last night in which they not only refused to lend more funds but said they would not renew outstanding loans when they fall due. Their refusal, they said, was contingent upon Detroit's continued inability to balance the budget.

In an effort to avoid a straight salary cut, councilmen are seeking means of meeting salaries through issuance of certificates for one-third of the salaries due, but this plan has not met with approval of the bankers.

Lagging tax payments forced the city to borrow from several banks and local industrial concerns. Several of the loans are due within the next few months, and tax payments are still below expectations.

The first note of the city to fall due is that of the Ford Motor company, which loaned $5,000,000 payable April 15. G. Hall Roosevelt, city controller, said this note, as well as the others, are "frozen" insofar as the city's ability to pay them is concerned. It is believed, however, that the Ford note will be renewed.

Mrs. Read, an Oakland, Calif., society woman and mother of two children, has filed suit for divorce against Read.

FINGER SENT WITH EXTORTIONIST NOTE

Prominent Cleveland Resident Receives Demand for $3,000

Cleveland—(AP)—A grisly extortion plot, in which a finger hacked from a human hand was sent to a prominent Cleveland man as a terrorizing warning, was investigated today by detectives.

The man who received the gruesome threat was John E. Wilberding, 58, president of two building and loan companies, former member of the London, Ohio, prison commission, and former chairman of the Cleveland Boxing commission.

Accompanying the finger, left in Wilberding's mailbox, was a demand that he pay $3,000 to a messenger of the extortionist.

Whether the finger was severed from a dead or living body will be learned after an examination by experts at Western Reserve university. It had been cut and torn from the left hand of an adult, then wrapped in an envelope for delivery.

The possibility that the extortionist would not hesitate to murder, and that he may have committed such a crime already, as evidenced by the finger, was not overlooked, and Wilberding was placed under a special police guard.

Farmers Lack Leadership, Tittmore Tells Dairymen

Madison—(AP)—J. N. Tittmore, United States marshal, told dairymen of Dane-co at a banquet here last night that during the last ten years Wisconsin farmers have been living off their own fat like the bear that hibernates over winter.

Tittmore, who is widely known among agricultural leaders of the state, declared the farmers have allowed their property to depreciate in value until there is little or nothing left.

"It is said our farm taxes are low. I grant that in many sections, we, as farmers, cannot complain of our taxes for 1931 as compared with 10 years ago. The great trouble is our farm land values have decreased in value to where they were 30 to 35 years ago. If one has nothing to tax, all taxes seem low," he said.

"It is unfortunate," he said, "that some of our public servants are woefully ignorant of your needs, or dishonest in administering of the affairs in your behalf. If other agencies are not fair with you, then it lies within your power to compel them to be fair."

"You farmers have some fine and noble leaders, but generally speaking your leadership is ignorant of your real needs, and where they know your needs they are cowardly in advocating them. It is a pity beyond my power to express it that with nearly 50 per cent farmers in your last legislature you did not have leadership that would memorialize congress with respect to your needs."

As applied to the land, Tittmore said, Governor LaFollette's tax theories are purely Socialistic and tend clearly to Communism. He said the governor apparently was being badly advised in regard to the farm situation.

MARKET ADJUSTED TO RESTRICTIONS ON SHORT SALES

Decline in Premiums for Loaned Stock Shows
Bears' Fears Eliminated

New York, (AP)—At the end of the first full week of trading since the stock exchange put its new restrictions on short selling, brokers report the market's machinery has been fully adjusted to give effect to the change.

In fact, some leading wire houses report, there has been a moderate increase in short selling during the week. Fears felt by the short interest as to their ability to borrow sufficient stock from customers to permit them to function on the bear side have largely disappeared. This is reflected, brokers point out, in the steady decline in premiums commanded by loaned stock.

Under the regulations, put into effect April 1, brokers must obtain written consent from customers to loan the latter's stocks for short selling usages. Difficulty in obtaining as many of these consents as were necessary caused a flurry last Friday when premiums were bid up sharply for this type of accommodation. The premium on U. S. Steel stock was bid up to a point which meant that representatives of short sellers had to pay $30 per day for every 100 shares they borrowed. The premium has since dropped to 1-16th point, so they can now obtain that accommodation for $6.25 per day.

Brokers report they have received many additional "consents" this week. Nevertheless, they find some owners of stocks adamant against granting permission to loan them.

No further flurry of short covering is expected to result from the new regulation, although some brokers say any turn in business conditions might bring a short squeeze whose severity would be emphasized because of the new handicap on bear operations.

Latest stock exchange figures show that about 20,000 shares on stock were bought in open market on April 1 by shorts for covering purposes for March, the short interest increased by 176,000 shares, amounting on April 1 to $279,398 shares against 3,102,576 shares on March 1. The maximum swing during the month was about 500,000 shares, or from a low point of 3,018,470 shares on March 2 to a high of 3,560,231 shares on March 22.

CO-EDS INTERESTED IN SOCIAL WELFARE WORK

According to the questionnaire answered by Lawrence college women at student convocation Wednesday, about half of their number are interested in the plan proposed by Miss Florence Nicholson, dean of women, for carrying out social welfare work in the city. The women will aid forces already at work, and will carry on their aid under the direction of the city nurse. They will help with such work as planning menus and budgets, supervising play, increasing sanitation and health, and in actual cleaning work.

Schneller Leading Schneider In G. O. P. Delegates Election

BAINS EDGE IN CLOSE BATTLE OF FACTIONS

16 Conservative Delegates, 11 Progressives Likely at Convention

Milwaukee (P)—Additional returns from Tuesday's delegate primary today revealed the majority in the delegate-at-large contest, giving a 4 to 3 edge to the conservative Republicans.

At the same time the conservatives maintained their hold on district delegates with 12 to 8 for Progressive Republicans.

With returns from 2,284 precincts out of 2,845 in the state tabulated, Frank J. Schneller of Appleton, led George J. Schneider of Neenah, 1,557 votes. In the last previous tabulation, 2,579 precincts, Schneller trailed Schneider by 248 votes.

On the basis of the latest returns, 14 of the Wisconsin delegation to the national Republican convention in Chicago will be Conservative Republicans while 11 will be Progressive Republicans.

Delegates-at-large on the basis of available returns will be LaFollette, Damann, Blaine, all Progressives, and Dahl, Daugherty and Schneller, all Conservatives.

District delegates apparently named are: Anderson, Imman, Bentley, Greene, Marcus, Dittman, Schaefer, Gettelman, Klode, Barnard, Krez, and C. C. Nelson, all Conservatives, and Paradowski, Conners, Immel, Graunke, Melchior, Cashman, Gehrmann and Elkstrom, all Progressives.

In the precincts already reported, the entire slate of six Roosevelt pledged delegates-at-large and 19 district delegates were chosen to represent Wisconsin Democrats at the convention. An independent, Stephen Przybylski, whose slogan was "Al Smith and Prosperity," apparently had won one of the Fourth district Democratic contests.

Callahan Is Out

One of the items of business which the Roosevelt Democrats likely will bring up at the national convention will be the naming of a successor to John M. Callahan, national committeeman, whose unopposed slate of delegates was decisively eliminated. The Roosevelt-pledged group polled 324,013 of the 1,057,715 Democratic vote in 2,570 precincts.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette led the Progressive slate with 129,028 votes for delegate at large and Senator John J. Blaine had 120,143.

George Mead, Wisconsin Rapids Manufacturer, led the conservative delegate-at-large ticket with 109,636.

EF Ryan Duffy, Fond du Lac, was high on the Roosevelt Democratic slate with 112,183. Callahan's total of 84,063 was high on the Democratic unpledged ticket.

Conservative Republican candidates for delegate-at-large polled a total of 734,992 votes on the basis of returns from 2,270 precincts while the Progressive faction polled 760,639. Each of the Republican candidates had seven candidates for delegate at large and each of the Democratic group had six.

Total Votes Cast

In the 2,270 precincts the conservative and Progressive Republicans together polled a total of 1,515,631 votes. Since each voter, however, cast a ballot for each of seven candidates the approximate number of Republican voters who went to the polls, determined by dividing 1,515,631 by seven, was 216,519. The same method indicates that approximately 151,106 Democratic voters cast ballots. The total approximate vote cast in the 2,270 precincts then is the sum of 216,519 and 151,106 or 367,625. The total delegate vote cast in 1928, reduced to the same terms, was 369,105. But there were only four candidates.

The total Democratic vote cast for delegates at large in 1928 was 551,485. This compares with this year's total of 1,057 with 575 precincts still unreported.

INVITE IKE WALTONS TO WAUPACA BANQUET

Members of the Outagamie chapter, Isaac Walton league, have been invited to attend the annual meeting of the Chan O' Lakes chapter at Amusement hall, War Veterans home, Waupaca, at 6:30 Monday evening. Col. Roy F. Farland, commander of St. John's military academy at Delaford, will be the guest speaker.

The directors of the county chapter will meet at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the valley council boy scout offices.

REPORT ROOSEVELT READY FOR SALE OF TEMPLE

Los Angeles (P)—The Los Angeles Times says Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton is negotiating for the sale of Angelus temple to Paul Rader, an evangelist, with the understanding she will not appear at the religious platform in Los Angeles for two years after the deal is closed.

The newspaper says Mrs. Hutton plans to tour around the world with her husband, David Hutton, of the Los Angeles Times, and that the deal is consummated.

The property includes, in addition to the widely known temple, which Mrs. Hutton founded, a Bible school, radio station and palatial parsonage. The Times says the down payment to be approximately $50,000.

WASSENBERG MAY ASK RECOUNT OF VOTES

C. J. Wassenberg, defeated alderman candidate in the Fourth ward, is contemplating calling for a recount of votes cast at the general election Tuesday. Mr. Wassenberg, who polled 51 votes lost his seat in the council to George Braunigam, former alderman who received 568 votes.

Building Permits

One building permit was issued Thursday by John N. Wetland, building inspector. It was granted to Mrs. Rose Sorenson, 745 E. Eldorado st., remodel porch, cost $150.

Question Her

Mrs. Nan Walker Burke (above), sister of Mayor James J. Walker of New York, was questioned in connection with the current legislative inquiry into city affairs.

Mrs. Burke announced after the questioning that she had been asked about the extent of the Mayor's gifts to her.

Will Order Removal of Pickle Factory

The removal of the Flanagan Laughlin pickle factory from its W. College-ave location by July 1 will be ordered by John N. Wetland, building inspector, Saturday. The order will be sent to the pickle factory and the 800 line railroad, from whom the factory leased its location.

The railroad company has agreed to follow the issuance of orders with a notification to the pickle factory that its lease will expire June 1.

The action is the result of inspections made by the building inspector following protests from Third and Fifth ward residents, who feel that the factory is unsightly, noisy and offensive.

VETERANS ASK FOR FULL CASH BONUS PAYMENT

Bear Truckload of Petitions to Leaders of House and Senate

the country that a further bonus bill of $2,000,000,000 or thereabout for World War veterans will be passed."

"I wish to state again that I am absolutely opposed to any such legislation. . . I do not believe any such legislation can become law."

"Such action would undo every effort that is being made to reduce government expenditures and balance the budget."

Stevens said his position was in accord with the action taken by the last national convention of the legion at Detroit after an address by President Hoover.

Overdue Vets

Slightly more than a year ago President Hoover vetoed legislation to allow veterans to borrow up to half the face value of their compensation certificates which were allowed congress eight years ago over the veto of President Coolidge. Congress, however, overrode the Hoover veto, the house 328 to 79, and the senate 76 to 17.

Today, as is customary during such events, half a hundred special policemen were marshalled before the capitol steps to keep order during the march.

Representative Rainey is known to be opposed to the bonus payment, though as yet he has declined any public statement. The Republican house leadership, following Mr. Hoover's stand, also is against the measure.

To date, few requests have been made to the ways and means committee for an opportunity to testify on the bonus. Seven of these came from members of the house. Others include:

General Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., retired, a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania; John Thomas Taylor, spokesman for the American Legion; Thomas Kirkby of the Disabled American Veterans; L. S. Ray of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Edward J. Jefferson, representative Detroit veterans group; Walter Laferly, of New York City; E. Levin, of the Workers Ex-Servicemen's League of New York City; and Frank T. Hines, administrator of the veterans bureau.

House members who have signified an intention to testify include:

Patman of Texas; Swank, McClintock and Hastings of Oklahoma; Collins of Mississippi; Condon of Rhode Island, all Democrats; and Garber of Oklahoma, Republican.

SUPERIOR TREASURER ASKS FULL PAYMENT

Superior (P)—George Ostrom, Superior city treasurer, is not going to be the "big-hearted friend" to a resident of Scotland any longer.

Mr. Ostrom made his decision recently when he received a check for payment of tax assessments against Duncan Grant, an owner of Superior property who several years ago returned to his native Scotland.

When the check for Mr. Grant's assessment was received by the city treasurer recently, he noticed a shortage of 40 cents.

The city treasurer sent the check back to Mr. Duncan asking that the additional 40 cents be paid, with a reminder that hereafter the full amount be paid on forthcoming assessments.

The reminder was given Mr. Duncan, Mr. Ostrom said, because each year when the check from Scotland arrives there is usually a shortage. The first year only 10 cents lacked paying the assessment, and the city treasurer paid the dime; the second year, the shortage was 15 cents, and again Mr. Ostrom paid.

Every year the money orders from Mr. Grant were short from 15 to 25 cents and Mr. Ostrom continued to pay the difference.

"There's a depression this year," Mr. Ostrom said, "and forty cents is needed in Superior as badly as in Scotland."

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Application for a marriage license has been issued by John E. Hant-schel, county clerk to Elmer School, Kaukauna, and Katherine Gerrits, Kaukauna.

INFANTA BEATRICE'S MARRIAGE DELAYED

Paris (P)—The marriage of Infanta Beatrice, daughter of former Alfonso of Spain and her cousin, Don Alvaro D'Orleans, will not take place until after he passes his examinations at the Zurich Engineering school next October, his father, Alfonso d'Orleans, said today. The wedding had been expected to take place July 15.

At the same time a spokesman for the former Spanish Royal family at Fontainebleau said Don Alvaro spent the Easter holidays there and there was no question of any quarrel between him and the infanta.

"There never has been a formal engagement between my son and the infanta," Don Alfonso said, "but there has been an understanding. It probably would have been married already if it had not been for the revolution in Spain, which naturally affected both families financially."

His son has just examinations to undergo at Zurich and there is no question of the marriage for some time.

OFFICIAL RESIGNS

Beloit (P)—R. A. Edgar, city attorney for 15 years, has filed his resignation with City Manager Arthur Gray Otis. Edgar said his resignation was prompted by the election Tuesday of E. F. Brangan, alderman, and his people's ticket, consisting of T. D. Corcoran and Robert Dowd.

32 PLAYERS COMPETE IN CONTRACT TOURNEY

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sugerman, playing in National league competition, and Bert Manser and Paul West, American league contestants, won first prizes in the tournament of the Appleton Contract Bridge association at the Elks club Thursday evening. Second prize in National league play went to Mr. and Mrs. James Whalen, and in American league competition to Mrs. Paul Scallion and Mrs. Ray Peterson.

HORTONVILLE FAIR OFFICIALS ATTEND MADISON MEETING

Hear State Fair Chief Discuss Reforms Now Being Undertaken

Frank Winkewer and Milford Steffen, officers of the Hortonville fair association, and Gustav E. Sell, county agricultural agent, were in Madison Thursday where they attended a conference of fair officials and state agricultural leaders, headed by Ralph Ammon, chief of fairs for state department of markets and agriculture.

"Fairs as a group are not much worse off financially than they were two years ago," Mr. Ammon said. "The general public has the impression that fairs are much worse off than the actually are," he said.

acknowledging that attendance had been reduced 24 per cent and incomes slashed 20 per cent during 1931.

Urges Reforms

Three major reforms in fair management to be applied by 1933 were listed by his fellow speakers.

1. To bring about a new system of issuing judges' licenses.

2. To revise premium lists downward in order to balance budgets.

3. To bring about the adoption of a more uniform system of accounting.

The right to force these three reforms into common practice falls within the jurisdiction of the department of agriculture and markets, Ammon said, "but we feel they will be more effective if the fair representatives have a part in applying them."

He emphasized that fair officials will need to make applications for state aid before Dec. 31, in order to get it for 1933 because 1, furthermore, no state aid will be paid until fair boards have paid exhibitors all of their premium moneys in cash, he stressed.

Exhibitor Lists Demanded

"Two copies of revised premium lists for each fair must reach the department before May 1 together with names of fair officials and the date which the event will be held."

"Separate lists of exhibitors showing in each department of a fair will also be demanded," he said.

Ammon said state aid would not be reduced more than 20 per cent for 1932 and added that it might not be slashed more than 10 per cent but stressed the fact that he had no definite information in that regard.

13 RAILROAD CRASHES IN STATE IN 3 MONTHS

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Twelve railroad accidents occurred in Wisconsin during the last three months of 1931, killing 28 persons and injuring 39, the Interstate Commerce Commission announces.

Lasting accidents, train and train services occurring on all railroads and in all states of the Union during October, November, and December of last year, the I. C. C. stressed the frequency of grade crossing accidents.

Of the total casualties in Wisconsin in these three months, 221 per cent were caused by accidents involving automobiles; and 217 per cent were caused by accidents at grade crossings.

For the country as a whole, there were 1,739 train accidents during the three months, killing 1,294 persons and injuring 4,876 others.

FORSTER IS NEW HEAD OF YACHT CLUB

Program of Activities for Coming Navigation Season Is Announced

Rudolph Forster was elected commodore of the Appleton Yacht club at a meeting in the club rooms on S. Pierce-ave Thursday evening. He succeeds Leo Schroeder, who last night was elected vice commodore. Other officers are Paul Stevens, fleet captain; Max Kolerzke, lieutenant; Herbert Brock secretary and treasurer; Clarence Wirtz and Norbert Forster, sergeants-at-arms, and Henry Schroeder, measurer.

Directors for three years are: Dr. A. L. Koch and Charles Hopfensperger two years, James Martin and Harvey Schlutz and one year, Richard Wenzlaff and William Storm.

Plans for the election of new board members for crafts of yacht club members also were discussed. Tentative plans for the season's program were outlined. It was announced that speakers will appear at future meetings. Several picnics will be held during the summer, and the second annual regatta is scheduled for the latter part of the summer, and special cruises are being arranged.

Report on proposed government improvements of the Fox river and Lake Winnebago after navigation opens at 6 o'clock Friday morning, April 15, also was submitted. Eight new buoys will mark the channel in the river at Menasha.

Dredge Canal

It also was announced that a government dredge will dredge a channel 100 feet long and six feet deep from the Menasha locks to the light house in Little Lake Butte des Morts after the navigation season opens. The channel from the locks south also will be dredged.

A vigorous membership campaign is being conducted by the club under the direction of Mr. Hopfensperger, membership committee chairman.

Boats of members are being repaired and repaired and four of them will be ready for launching within the next week or two. Docks at the clubhouse are to be repaired during the coming season, and one section may be extended to accommodate boats which draw from five to six feet of water, it was stated.

WARMER WEATHER ON MENU FOR SATURDAY

Ideal spring weather prevailed here Friday, the mercury rising to 48 degrees above zero at noon, the highest point it reached in several weeks.

Fair weather with another rise in temperature is on the menu tonight and Saturday, according to the weatherman. Similar predictions have been forecast over most of the middlewest. Skies will be partly cloudy Saturday, he says, but warm weather will continue.

Winds are shifting in the north and northwest. At 6 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 33 degrees above zero.

JACK GUZIK STARTS HIS PRISON SENTENCE

Leavenworth, Kas.—(P)—Jack Guzik, reputed business manager for Al Capone's Chicago underworld syndicate, entered the federal prison here today to begin serving a 5-year sentence for income tax evasion.

He was accompanied by two deputy United States marshals who rode with him from Chicago to Kansas City in a private railroad coach, which Guzik chartered.

Guzik was taken directly to the receiving clerk to begin the dressing process. His brother, Sam, is nearing the end of a sentence here imposed for income tax dodging. Guzik will be assigned to work in about two weeks.

Groucho Marx President Of Asthma Riding Club

BY JESSIE HENDERSON Copyright, 1932, by Cons. Press

Hollywood—At last the west and asthma and riding club has a president. For a week the club has been lacking around without a president since its foundation in honor of Harold N. Swanson, editor of Collier's Humor who is on a visit here.

But today named as the club's president is a man who doesn't take a long breath between laughing at one another's gags and their own and make a president of Groucho Marx. He's the brother with the moustache.

The office entitles Groucho to nothing but grief according to the other members, who certainly ought to know. The other members are all humorous writers or writers of humor, and all of them have been editors of something for college magazines. Oh, sure, quite a lot of humorous writers went to college. Goodness knows why.

On behalf of the west end asthma and riding club its members claim that it is the parent, so soon as this of the Bonny cycle society of America which is affiliated the North American circus collectors guild and the dry fish institute.

These claims give you some idea how humorous are the club meetings, which take place on Mondays during lunch hour in any restaurant near Hollywood at which the members happen still to have credit.

Swanson, invited to lunch as 'pest of honor' by a couple of fellows who write funny stuff for the talkies, had the club founded around him and himself made a charter member before he quite realized what was going on. "They just said, 'let's found a club,'" Swanson explained today. "and right like that, I was buying the lunch. I couldn't see anything so darned funny about it, but the rest of the charter members laughed like anything."

Among the charter members are S. J. Perelman, Bert Kalman, Harry Ruby, and Bill Crouch, all writers for the silver screen. They admit that though the club began as merely a merry jest, it is going to continue in a serious way with conferences, executive boards, committee and everything.

"My first official act," President Groucho Marx confessed immediately after his election, "will be to make all the other members lie presidents. So if we want to change the club into a tank, we'll be all or nothing."

Believes White Man He Saw In Jungle Voluntary Exile

Washington (P)—Teimo Araujo, who believes he saw Col. F. H. Fawcett, "lost" English explorer, in the Brazilian jungle about 1927, today said the colonel may be a voluntary exile from civilization.

A meeting in the jungle with an Englishman who said he was "not going back" to civilization was described by Araujo, son of a Brazilian rubber exporter and now a resident of Washington.

The region where he says he met the mysterious white man is near that in which Stephen Rattin, a Swiss trapper, recently reported meeting Fawcett and receiving from him a message asking to be rescued from "Indian captivity."

Araujo said he led an expedition into the Matto Grosso jungle looking for rubber.

"One afternoon I was walking through the jungle," he said, "when I saw a white man coming toward me. When he saw me he stood still and waited for me to approach. He was about 50 years old, of medium height, blond, a touch of gray in his hair, with blue eyes and a long beard such as all white men grow in the jungle. His khaki shorts were tattered, his shirt falling to pieces, and on his feet were native rubber shoes."

"I went up to him and asked him who he was and if he were lost. 'I am an Englishman,' he said, 'and I am not lost.'"

"I said to him, 'don't you want ever to go back to your home?' and he said, 'Never. I hate that life.'"

"I looked straight at him and said: 'Are you Col. Fawcett?'"

"'Never mind about that,' he replied. 'I am not going back.' He carried no gun but was armed with a belt knife."

Later "he got up and walked alone in the jungle. I saw he wanted no one to follow him, so I, too, went my way."

"Returning to Manaus, I told my story, and everyone there said the native rumors exactly agreed with that; that the Indians believed Fawcett never wanted to reach home again."

Fawcett disappeared in the Matto Grosso region, a vast unexplored jungle area of Brazil, seven years ago. It was generally believed he was lost in the jungle or killed by Indians.

SEES G. O. P. DRIFT TO DEMOCRATIC POLICIES

New York (P)—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, today said he saw a strong drift of Republicans to Democratic party policies. First concrete evidence of this movement, he said, was in the primary votes in Wisconsin and North Dakota. In other states, particularly Pennsylvania, through which he has traveled, he noted the same tendency of Republican protest.

These observations were made by the governor in an interview after he had turned over to John W. Davis, general chairman of the Democratic victory campaign, a check for $38,690, Maryland's contribution in the party's drive for a $1,500,000 Preparedness fund.

Prohibition and unemployment. Governor Ritchie stated, would be the main issues of the presidential campaign this year.

DENY RUSS PURCHASE OF SHANGHAI WHEAT

Moscow (P)—It was authoritatively denied here today that the Soviet government has bought, or intends to buy, any flour at Shanghai to be shipped to Vladivostok. It was emphasized that Russia is not in the market for foreign flour or wheat.

(Reports from Shanghai yesterday said Russia had ordered 585,000 bags of flour at Shanghai and the news had increased speculation there of heavy Soviet troop movements into western Siberia.)

MUST FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS BY SATURDAY

Final expense accounts must be filed Saturday with Carl Becker city clerk by candidates in the general election. Election expense accounts must be made the Saturday preceding and the Saturday following the election.

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLING

Chicago (P)—A warrant was issued in felony court today charging Miss Josie W. Gregg, 60-year-old cashier of an insurance company, with embezzlement.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE
With the increased tax on every sort of financial transaction involving the sale of stocks, bonds or other securities, some eastern brokerage houses have warned that the great stock exchanges are likely to close. Most people think of such a step as one of disaster. We wonder about that.

Stock exchanges present great advantages, it is true. They facilitate freedom of trade. Freedom of trade is one of the great essentials of our life. Restrictions on trade should never be made or permitted excepting as the public welfare may imperatively demand.

But the stock exchange, incidentally, is the breeder of many ills. In days of prosperity it uses the lip stick and the rouge box to a fare-thee-well. It paints wonderful pictures of roscate colors. Let us take an example from actual life to show what it does to men. In February, 1929, stock of Goldman-Sachs Trading Corporation sold at $224 a share and yet this corporation had only been in existence about two months and its stock when issued sold at $100 a share. Moreover the people didn't know anything about its assets. They bought blindly, wildly, drunkenly. Is it any wonder that when pessimism roams the land the value of this corporation shrank 85 per cent? And the example given is only one of a thousand that might be cited.

Going to the other extreme, as soon as business fails to hold its pace, the stock exchange becomes a dire picture of whining, blubbering depression. The world is going to the dogs and the government is going to the devil. And just as there was a stampede going up, now there comes a panic of fear going down. Just as securities in 1929 sold for 2 to 5 or 10 times their intrinsic worth so, instances may be found in a depression where prices go to foolish depths.

It is not at all unlikely that a closing of the stock exchange during a period of depression would be a helpful element in bucking up the courage of the country.

LOOKING TO AMERICA
The Hitlerites have opened an office in New York presumably for the spreading of the German idea of fascism.

The Italian Fascists have for long had a central office there. It is not unlikely that these ventures are stimulated by a desire to raise funds in this country although it is quite certain too that the leaders in such movements become so wrapped up in what appears to them as the justice of their cause that they wish to spread its alleged blessings elsewhere.

At about the same time the Nazis were lettering a show-window in New York De Valera was assuring the Irish people, now apparently fearful of an unnecessary struggle with Great Britain, that aid would be forthcoming from these shores. He declared:

"One might, perhaps, believe our country was engaged in an unequal and dangerous struggle against Great Britain, but we are not without means of action. I can testify that we have great strength in the United States. Remember, there were 300,000 subscribers to our first national loan. Remember, there are millions of citizens in the United States of Irish birth and a still greater number of Irish descent. Do not forget that in the peace treaty President Wilson imposed as a condition on Lloyd George a settlement with Ireland."

The attitude of America today and that of forty years ago toward European dissensions is far from the same, nor is the reason difficult to find. The number of our people of foreign birth is rapidly dwindling. Their children, while looking with a natural enough feeling of yearning and somewhat of affection toward the countries from which their forefathers came have not the poignant interest and cannot be aroused to the pitch of emotional action that might have been accomplished with their sires.

If German, Italian, Irish or other national parties wish to speak to the American people, very well. They will find us all interested listeners. But when it comes to giving any appreciable aid to some European faction the shrewd American will reason that he doesn't know much about their internal problems or troubles and is not in a position to make an intelligent decision.

Indeed he has enough difficulty sensibly deciding his own public affairs.

ANOTHER RAP AT THE TREASURY

Congressman DePriest of Chicago, the only negro in the house, has introduced a relief measure to provide a pension of $30.00 per month to all blacks over 75 years of age. Since, according to the 1930 census, there are about 120,000 negroes qualified to receive this pension the outlay would amount to a little over 43 millions a year.

While this attempted raid upon the treasury is not expected to get very far, the line of reasoning back of it is interesting, not merely because it is without merit but because it is just as sound a line of reasoning as has backed other raids upon the public treasury.

Mr. DePriest, according to Time, has reasons that go back to 1619 when 20 negro slaves were brought to this country. He figures that during the 244-year period up to 1863 when Lincoln's Proclamation of Emancipation was issued, these blacks earned at the rate of $50.00 per year, something like 3 1/2 billion dollars which they never got. He adds interest on that sum at 3 per cent which brings it up to over 11 billions. He thinks it is about time for this country to begin paying its debt, and a little entering wedge in the form of a pension to the aged would be a good start.

"Debts" of this character would not be hard to figure out. Those due the Indians would consume the entire wealth of the land.

But this sort of attempted treasury raid will be a wonderful vote-getter in the "black belt."

THE JONES LAW

A recent proposal for the repeal of the Jones "Five and Ten" law was killed by the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives. This drastic law provides maximum penalties of $10,000 fine and five years' imprisonment for violation of the Volstead act.

The New York Times is authority for figures revealing how this law has been applied and to what extent it may be accepted as a corrective measure for prohibition enforcement.

The average jail sentence for the whole country imposed in the Federal courts during February was 116 days and the average fine $122. The average sentence in New York State was 40 days and the average fine $62. The average sentence in New York City was 31 days and the average fine $32.

From these facts conclusions are drawn that local sentiment continues to control the penalties imposed for liquor law violations and that the general standard for severity falls far below that which the Jones law had been expected to establish.

As for New York City the Times suggests, "that at $32 a piece for violations of the Volstead act (and 31 days in jail for a few unfortunate subordinates) the managers of a thriving liquor traffic in this city have a better bargain than under the old system of high license."

Opinions Of Others

TO PROMOTE HOME OWNERSHIP
"It should be possible in our country for any person of sound character and industrious habits to provide himself with adequate and suitable housing, and preferably to own his own home."

This President Hoover states a problem, the solution of which is to be the aim of one of the most important of his special conferences. December 2, upwards of 100 representatives of organizations either actively engaged in some sort of activities affecting home building or directly interested in its promotion, will meet in Washington. Elaborate preparation has been made. "Twenty-five committees, headed by men and women of authority and experience," says the announcement, have been engaged for months in gathering and analyzing available information. Such a rallying of talent should at the while safeguarding the interests of the entire country of the importance of the subject, considered.

But practical results in the way of increased home ownership depend almost entirely upon the solution of one set of problems, those having to do with finance. If the President's conference centered its entire attention upon this one problem and brought forth some simple plan to encourage the building and selling of houses for the millions of ordinary folk who need better housing, the while safeguarding the interests of these small investors, the results would be memorable.—Detroit News.

What, Chicago?
In 1859 Chicago began an extensive park development and soon afterwards its total area of parks comprised 1857 acres. The city then acquired the nickname of "Garden City" and that name is still emblazoned on the municipal coat of arms.

RUINS

Since ever man began to think, 'tis plain as plain can be, That he has chiseled things on stone for other men to see, And he has spent his precious time, whatever Perpetrating truths he'd learned for other men to use, Strange races of the by-gone times have labored side by side To leave some lasting proof on earth that they have lived and died,

And when a pretty tale was told or came some daring deed, They needs must chisel it in stone for other men to read, They've builded temples to their faiths, and clearly it appears All men have struggled to outlive the devastating years, Knowing that they must go away, they tried to leave behind Some record of the things they'd learned for other men to find.

They might have lived in peace and died, and gone their ways alone, But for that urge which prompted them to chisel truths in stone, And now how heavy seems the cost they paid in wealth and pain To glorify their curious gods and monument their slain, (Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest)

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HORSE SENSE AND MULE RESISTANCE

Colleague says the "horse sense and mule resistance" in your articles make them very popular and they are read by literally millions of people, and for that reason he fears my recommendation of the ambulant or injection treatment of hernia (rupture, breach) as preferable to the radical operation may do considerable harm. He goes on to explain patiently just why he thinks so. "You must know and realize," he says, "that the failure of this chemical irritation would exaggerate the adhesions if no other damage was done and render the radical operation more difficult; and would, therefore, add some danger to it and a larger per cent. of recurrence. So I think your advice to the public and to the physician is very dangerous."

My friend's letter is a tolerant and courteous one and I believe it fairly expresses the attitude of the rank and file of the reputable medical profession in reference to this injection, chemical, or ambulant treatment of hernia which I advocate. Note that this good doctor opposes a THEORETICAL objection, namely that the medicine or chemical injected may produce adhesions, which would make a subsequent operation, if the patient should elect to have it, operation in the end, more difficult and less likely to succeed. Probably my colleague has other objections which he is not able to define but which he vaguely implies in the phrase "other damage."

I, too, held precisely that view five years ago. It is the fundamental conception which every medical student acquires in medical school. I tell my good colleague that the medicine or chemical injected does produce adhesions. That is why it cures the hernia. The radical operation produces similar adhesions—when it is successful.

But I am able, from observation rather than theoretical consideration, to assure him that if the first attempt to cure by injection fails it is because no adhesions or insufficient adhesions were produced, and in fact there is no great difficulty nor less chance of success attending a second or even a third series of injections, nor is there any added difficulty or danger in the event the patient tires of monkeying around and decides to undergo the radical operation.

But even if my friend's objection were valid, I'd still prefer the ambulant treatment for myself, if I had hernia. I'd want at least one good whirl at it before I'd willingly take several weeks off and go to bed for the radical operation—and please remember I don't enjoy serving on the receiving end of a nice clean operation where the surgeons, assistants and nurse are kept just busy enough so their attention won't be distracted and some of their belongings left in there.

More than a year after I had learned that good reputable physicians were using this ambulant treatment with satisfaction I investigated their work and observed the results. Only then did I mention it favorably in this column. I am conscious now that I made one error in replying to my colleague's criticism. I bet a box of cigars with him that he himself will be using the ambulant treatment within two years. I should have bet a pipe. I don't like cigars so well.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Like the Chicken and Egg Controversy

No one but an evolutionist would think a dog has good teeth because he gnaws bones. Any intelligent person believes a dog gnaws bones because he has good teeth. (R. J.)

Answer—No, sir. I refuse to argue with you. But I believe the dog that gets bones to gnaw is a sturdier, healthier animal than the dog that is pampered and gets none. And I believe he gets it from the bone marrow, not from the hard bone. Aromatic Spirit of Ammonia. I am very nervous and find that it does me much good when I take one-half teaspoonful of aromatic spirit of ammonia in one-half glass of water once every day. Is that

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Perhaps the most striking thing about the widely-heralded vote on prohibition in the house, on the motion to discharge the judiciary committee from further consideration of the question, was the rollicking good time that about everybody apparently had.

It may be true that among those 227 who voted no and the 157 who voted aye, there were political scalps lifted. Many observers, as well as congressmen themselves, seem to think so. But if it was a political scalp affair, it seemed a cheerful one. Offhand one would think that on a question so vital and one striking so close home to every member of the house, feeling would have run high. Almost the reverse was true.

Up to and including the roll call vote, congressmen yelled, joked, applauded—in fact did everything except grow serious.

Crowd Looks On
The setting was perfect. Crowds almost equaling the day Jack Garner was elected and sworn in as speaker of the house started jamming their way into the galleries hours ahead of time. By noon every available bit of space was taken and as many more were packed in the corridors outside.

When Lathum of Maryland, chairman of the wet bloc, started things by bringing up the resolution to discharge the committee, the fun began.

Probably a half-dozen short speeches were made. They had to be short because all debate was limited to 20 minutes. And each speaker with one exception was subject to cat-calls, jeering and applause no matter what side he was on. Only the scholarly Beck of Pennsylvania escaped razing by his colleagues.

Wet Bloc Surprised
Only during the roll call did the hilarity subside. But Speaker Garner had to plead and threaten to restore order even then.

The boys had done their worrying beforehand and seemed determined to do their voting under as pleasant circumstances as possible. The dry bloc would applaud heartily when one they were a bit shaky about remained in line. The wet bloc would do the same thing when they saw a brother who had voted against them before come into their camp.

Just what it all means, now that the vote has been taken, no one seems to know. The wet bloc never entertained hopes that victory would be theirs. Actually their leaders were surprised that they mustered the strength they did. Perhaps it will be necessary to await the elections in November. The wisdom of many a congressman's vote may be decided then.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York — In the 17-story Chrysler tower which enshrines his father's chest of tools—hand made, because the senior Chrysler had no money to buy ready made tools in 1896—Walter P. Chrysler, Jr., has found a home for his artistic enterprises.

Young Chrysler, who will be 23 on May 27, dreams of achievements in the world of art which, like his father's building, will be monumental.

He was fashioning figures in bronze at 9, and he has studied abroad. He is ambitious to do creative work, of course. But he has found that it is possible to express his artistry as a published and a patron.

He has just opened a public art gallery on the ground floor, which he describes as a logical expansion of his publishing house high up in the tower, so far devoted to the production of fine limited editions.

There of his de luxe editions of famous classics recently were selected as among the fifty choicest books of the year by the American Institute of Graphic Art. This was the maximum of recognition to any one publisher.

He illustrated his edition of the Inferno of Dante Alighieri with seven engravings of William Blake never used before, and found a subscriber for every book despite the financial pinch.

To Seek Talent
The youthful publisher will not confine his attention to the classics altogether. He told me he will be on the look-out for talented new writers, as well as unrecognized but deserving artists whose work he will exhibit in his gallery.

He is so tremendously proud of the attention merited by the opening of his gallery that it would be no surprise to see him branch out into still more enterprises.

"All phases of art are too much related to be segregated," he says. Alejandro de Canedo, 28-year-old native of Mexico City, was chosen as the first artist to show in the gallery. His exhibition was under the auspices of Genaro Estrada, Mexico's ambassador to Spain and former Mexican foreign minister.

It was New York's first opportunity to see this young man's work displayed, though he had gained recognition through European showings.

Persons who are irked by the outrageous distortions of most of the modernists in art, went to see De Canedo's pencil portraits and applauded lustily.

In them they found a classical clarity and an amazingly beautiful technique. The Mexican explains that he uses pencil instead of colors, and he wants the technique to stand judgment in severe black and white.

"I am modern but follow tradition," De Canedo explains. "I have sought to escape a classification of my work according to any period or nationality."

Father Collects Art, Too
Getting back to the Chryslers, Walter P., Jr., has humored his son in his ambitions, for the father, too, has a keen appreciation of art. He has priced his collection of precious tapestries, rugs and prints.

But there is nothing the senior Chrysler takes more pride in than that set of tools he made by hand. The chest stands open so that all may see, and each device is stamped with the name, Walter P. Chrysler.

BOMBARDMENT BEGINS

On April 8, 1918, German guns began a heavy bombardment of British positions in northern France. The concentration was so heavy that British staff members were unable to determine where the expected new offensive was to strike.

German shock troops also delivered a heavy blow to the French at Verneuil and took the village after sharp fighting which lasted far into the night. American troops in the Toul sector repulsed a strong German raid. French aviators located and bombed the long range German gun which had been shelling Paris. They claimed to have silenced it.

Germany sent an ultimatum to Russia demanding withdrawal of the Russian fleet from Finnish waters by midnight, April 12.

Bolo Pacha, condemned to death for treason in France, made statements incriminating others and was granted a reprieve until April 17.

Now they're saying we ought to take politics out of government. The only people who will oppose that are the Democrats and Republicans.

"PENNY-A-SHELL" BILL WOULD GIVE STATE $107,100

Estimate Is Given Senate Committee by Game Experts

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wisconsin will get about $107,100, the 12th largest amount among all the states, for conservation of its wild game if Congress enacts the "Penny-a-Shell" bill now before it, game experts have told the Senate committee considering the bill.

The penny-a-shell bill proposes a tax of one cent a shell on all shotgun ammunition, with a rebate to trap shooters. The proceeds of this tax, estimated at $7,999,000 a year, would be used exclusively for the increase of pheasants, grouse, quail, rabbits, ducks and other wild game in the survival of which the rank and file of American shooters are interested.

Under provisions of the bill, five per cent of the revenue from the tax would be apportioned to the U.
S. Department of Agriculture for administration and research, while the balance would be divided into 55 per cent to state game departments for increase in upland game and 45 per cent to federal agencies for aiding waterfowl by enlarging of breeding, refuge and concentration areas.

The state monies are to be apportioned according to the number of hunting licenses issued in each state, and it is on this basis that the More Game Birds in America

Foundation estimated Wisconsin's probable share in the bill's revenue.
Under its estimate, New York would receive the most, $375,000; followed in order by Pennsylvania,
Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Missouri, California,
Iowa, Washington and Wisconsin.
The penny-a-shell proposal, however, is not the only conservation legislation being considered by the Senate committee. Some 400 experts and authorities on the subject of wildlife conservation have been invited to present suggestions and plans to the committee, which hopes to work out a generally agreeable and very best possible remedy.

The present wildfowl shortage is considered the accumulated effect of several bad breeding years. Recognition of the emergency character of the situation was given last year by the government's cutting the wild-fowl open season to 30 days. Shooters, apparently fearing communication of this temporary conservation measure, immediately began agitation for some means of relief which would bring back a longer shooting season as well as the birds.

BULLETIN HITS FAKE "CLOSING OUT" SALES

Madison—(AP)—Not only are fake "closing-out" sales detrimental to legitimate retail business but they also shake the public's faith in all retailers, the current issue of the Wisconsin Retail Bulletin, published by the University of Wisconsin, says. "The indirect damage comes through the undermining of public confidence in all retail business."

Wisconsin laws against fraudulent advertising apply to closing-out sales in which there is misrepresentation of the bulletin warned.

TERROR IN COAL FIELDS

In "Harlan Miners Speak" the Dreiser committee presents its report on terrorism in the Kentucky fields.

First of all, the members of the committee describe the situation in Harlan and adjacent counties as they found it. The coming of hard times, the ever-recurring wage reductions, the atrocious living conditions, the way in which the conservative United Mine Workers' Union lost its popularity to the radical National Miners' Union, the oppression and brutality visited on the strikers over a period of many months—all of these are presented in graphic and convincing detail.

Then come the affidavits from the miners and their wives: page after page of heart-breaking, tragic material which makes starvation, want, sickness and slavery unbearably real.

It is impossible to summarize briefly a book that covers so much ground. It is enough perhaps, to say that Mr. Dreiser and his associates have presented an overwhelmingly persuasive argument.

If they are wrong—if, as we are occasionally told, there is really no trouble down there except for what is caused by irresponsible agitators—they will take a good deal of ensuring. It will not be enough simply to assert that they were inspired by Moscow.

"Harlan Miners Speak" ought to get an exceedingly wide reading. It is published by Harcourt, Brace and Co., and sells for $2 a copy.

Palmer Is New Deacon Of Church

TOWARD PALMER was elected deacon of Memorial Presbyterian church at the annual meeting held at the church Thursday evening. He succeeds W. A. Harrison, who has moved from the city.

Officers elected for the year were: G. D. Thomas, G. F. Werner and H. H. Heller, elders; Mrs. C. W. Ritchie and Mrs. W. H. Kullen, deacons; Dr. H. T. Johnson, F. W. Schneider, and Mrs. Mabel Shannon, trustees.

The new audit committee includes G. P. Werner, J. N. Fisher, and F. W. Schneider.

The reports of the various church organizations showed that the church is in good financial condition, with no outstanding debts. Announcement was made that the Ladies Aid is contemplating buying a new organ for the church.

The supper, served by the men of the church under the direction of the elders, was attended by 170. A high school string trio provided music and J. A. Wood, president of the trustees presided at the business meeting.

PREPARE PLANS FOR MEETINGS ON FELLOWSHIP

The committee in charge of the World Fellowship meetings to be held Saturday, April 16, under the auspices of the City Wide Young People's council met Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. Preliminary arrangements were made for the events.

Clarence Miller, chairman of the banquet to be held at 6:30 in the evening at the Baptist church announced that plans are being made to have each table in the banquet hall represent a different country. Appropriate decorations for the various tables will be used, and the group will be led in a number of songs of the different nations.

The banquet will be attended by the young people of First Reformed, First Methodist, Memorial Presbyterian, First Baptist, First Congregational, St. John Evangelical, All Saints Episcopal, First English Lutheran, Christian Science, Emmanuel Evangelical, and Trinity English Lutheran churches.

PARTIES

Miss Margaret Murphy and Miss Emily Dachelet won prizes at progressive bridge and Miss Margaret Casey and Miss Louise Kuehler at Coney Island at the card party sponsored by Christian Mothers' society of St. Mary church Thursday night at Columbia hall. Mrs. Frank Slatery and Mrs. William Hayes won the prizes at schafkopf. Twenty-five tables were in play.

Pythian Sisters and their friends were entertained at a luncheon and bridge Thursday afternoon at Castle hall. Thirty tables were in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. George Koepke, Mrs. Charles Maesch, Mrs. Louis Bonini, and Mrs. Frank Richardson. Special prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mary Ballard and Mrs. Maurice Gehin. Mrs. J. P. Shimek and Mrs. A. G. Koch's circles were hostesses.

A farewell party in honor of Robert Carnes, retiring vice president of the Hi-Y Alumni club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bailey. Carnes, who has enlisted in the United States navy will leave Appleton shortly for a naval training station.

Ten tables were in play at the card party given by the Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Prizes were won at schafkopf by Mrs. Clement Noworatzky and Sebastian Griesbach, and at plump-sack by Mrs. Joseph Loer.

Christian Mothers' society of St. Therese church will hold an open card party Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Bridge, schafkopf and dice will be played.

Group No. 6 of St. Therese church will sponsor an open card party next Wednesday night at the parish hall. Mrs. John Helmuth and Mrs. Arthur Landauer will be in charge.

Twelve girl employees of the Kimberly Clark office at Kimberly held a dinner party at Conway hotel Thursday evening. Cards were played following the dinner.

MISS ALLEN SPEAKS HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Miss Mary Louise Allen, New York City, the guest of Miss Elizabeth Wilson, 813 E. Franklin-st., will speak, by request, at 5:15 Tuesday afternoon in the Social Union room of First Methodist church on the Cause and Cure of War conference which she attended this winter in Washington, D. C. Anyone interested in international relations is invited to attend. Miss Allen is a former colleague of Miss Wilson on the staff of the national board of Young Women's Christian Association. She was connected with the publicity and later the finance department.

Miss Allen spent most of the winter in Washington, D. C., attending the Cause and Cure of War conference and the opening of the Washington bi-centennial celebration, and is now on her way to the Pacific coast.

100 YEARS OLD TODAY

OFFICERS OF WOMEN'S UNION ARE RETAINED

All officers of the Women's Union of St. John church were re-elected at the meeting Thursday afternoon in the church basement. They are: Mrs. Peter East, president; Mrs. W. R. Wetzel, vice president; Mrs. E. Berdenhausen, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Froberg, financial secretary; and Mrs. H. Barr, treasurer.

The new fellowship committee includes Mrs. M. Kraus, Mrs. Charles Kitzner, and Mrs. Peter East. Announcement was made of a World Day of Prayer meeting at the church the afternoon of April 29. Action Day will be observed as a prayer day for missions on May 5. Mrs. W. R. Wetzel will be the leader.

A Mother and Daughter banquet will be served May 10 at the church, and there will be a birthday party April 14. The sewing circle will meet April 21 at the home of Mrs. E. Haver, W. Sprague.

Toys Help Mold Life Of Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

Children learn a great deal by playing with their toys. When we give them the delightful things the shops offer we have to bear that in mind. It is possible to teach children what we never intended they should learn by giving them the wrong things to play with.

The growth of a child is a long, slow process. Good teaching consists of teaching the right thing at the right time, matching the child's stage of growth with the fitting activity. There is a time, a right time for every human activity but, nobody is wise enough to meet that time each period of the child's growth. But we can come nearer to it if we try.

A little child one from five to nine years, has little appreciation of suffering, of human brotherhood, of any altruistic idea. He is in a rather savage stage of growth when force, noise, rough activity is second nature. This is not the time to give him a toy pistol. It is time to give him constructive toys, blocks and all sorts of building materials.

A pistol is a weapon. The only use a child has for a toy is to see it work, to make it work. Now a pistol or a gun serves one purpose. It kills. You cannot separate that idea from a toy pistol. It does not kill, it is true, but the child plays that it does and that cannot be good for any child. A little child does not understand death, or suffering, or any of the results of applied force. To him it is a game and I for one think it is a bad game for any child to play.

It doesn't seem funny to me when I see a little child press his toy pistol against the breast of his playmate and shout, "Bang, you're dead." I have the fear that perhaps this child will carry along through his life the notion that a gun and its bang may be just a playful gesture, a turn of the wrist. I fear that perhaps he will not learn the sacredness of human life, never understand the sorrow and pain that deadly weapons carry in their bangs and thunders and flashes. I fear that the game may last too long for the child's own safety and that of his generation.

If it is necessary that a child be taught to handle a gun the time is not childhood. It is during the later years of adolescence. Then, if it is necessary, the young persons who are to be taught can be taken to camp or field and trained to handle a gun, taught its meaning, its grave responsibility.

This year we have had the usual number of accidents. People have left loaded guns where children could reach them. The children played, Bang, and a playmate dropped. At once the majesty of the law is invoked. The sanctity of human life is brought uppermost. The child is arrested and dealt with according to the law. The law is usually merciful and remembers the youth of the offender, but what law is it to vine out the memory of his mistake? What power can restore life, or restore a childhood unsullied by tragedy once its dark shadow has fallen? We are too careless about this. Toys that are symbols of death are not for children. Get them the constructive toys. Teach them to create, to build, to bring beauty and power into the lives of other people and into their own.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

NEW OFFICERS OF DEMOLAYS GIVEN SEATS

Officers of John F. Rose chapter, Order of De Molay, were installed at the meeting Thursday night at Masonic temple. Installing officers were Henry Behrke, Lacey Horton, John Teavel, and Maurice Lewis.

Those who were seated include Charles W. d'steen, master counselor; Richard Buxton, senior counselor; John Horton, junior counselor; Leonard Buxton, scribe; Leonard Fessler and Arthur Downer, deacons; William Cahall and John Moyle, stewards; Sam Ornstein, sentinel; John Fischer, almoner; Robert Kimball, Paul Schaefer, Charles Herzog, Raymond Herzog, Earl Dehart, Earl Briggs and Loyd Krueger, preceptors; Robert Treney, marshal; and Chester Dorschner, chaplain.

Two candidates, Charles Sanders and Raymond McDonald, were initiated in the first degree.

THE STORY OF SUE
By Margery Hale

RUTH DEFIES SALLY
RUTH'S face was ashy-dark in the morning stories. Her eyes were almost black. Her hair was shadowy. And her lips were thin and tight.

She sat down, though, lightly enough, on the arm of a chair, and her voice was composed when she spoke to Sally.

"Did you want to see me?"

Sally's own voice was icy. Her hands clutched the pocketbook she carried.

"I want to invite you to come home. It's rather nice of us, considering that fact that you walked out on us."

"Yes," Ruth nodded. "Very nice of you, of course. But I wonder if you will carry my regrets back to the family? You see, it's really impossible. I couldn't come now."

"But why not?" Quick words.

"I have to find a job. I couldn't contribute to my share of the expenses."

"But you wouldn't have to . . . it's all right. Mother said to tell you."

—that she needs me. Isn't that it? Ruth's eyes smiled a little but her lips were very stern. "She is having a party tonight and the maid can't handle it alone. That's it, isn't it?"

"The cook has left. We're standing on our last legs financially and I . . . I don't know how to help. I am a poor cook. I can't do anything. Neither can mother. She hasn't had to ever. But you seem to have the knack. It's your duty to come home."

Ruth slipped from the arm of the chair. She stood very slim in the rough warm orange of the sports frock that Nancy Becker had given her. She crossed the room and stood down in a straight chair that stood near the fireplace.

"So it's my duty to come home?" she repeated. Her voice was lower, deeper than usual.

Sue noted that. She noted too the new composure that Ruth seemed to have acquired. A few weeks before her eyes would have been troubled. Now they weren't even disturbed.

"My duty." She repeated the words. Seemed to turn them over in her mind. To weigh them. Then she shook her head. "I'm afraid that I don't see my duty in the same light that you do, Sally. I'm not coming home any more. You can learn to cook and sweep. It isn't hard. There's a cook book in my desk at home. The rules are easy to follow. And it seems to me that the two of you . . . you are both strong and healthy. You ought to be able to prepare three meals a day and make the beds and dust. You still have a laundress and a cleaning woman, don't you?" Her lips twitched. "I thought if you didn't I might come in some time and do the scrubbing."

"Then you mean that you won't come?" Sally asked rising. Her eyes were blazing.

"I'm sorry, but it isn't that I won't come. It's that I can't come. I've got my self-respect back now. I'm not going back to the kitchen. I hope the dinner goes off all right tonight, Sally. There's a menu that's easy to prepare on page 45 of the famous cook book. I know, for I used it once before when the cook had a headache and the family had a party. Will you excuse me please?"

Sally had jumped to her feet. Her eyes were blazing furiously. She wasn't pretty now. She was almost ugly, it seemed to Sue. Her words were thin, edged, cutting.

NEXT: An interruption.
(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

Frank never mentioned the child—except to discuss it as a grave problem, my friend felt that she could not go ahead with plans for her second wedding. And very often the man in this difficult position forgets that he is going to be more or less responsible for the bringing up of his future step-children and that the woman he loves is watching him anxiously to see just what sort of stepfather he is going to make.

I think that if you can persuade the lady in the case that you're fully alive to your responsibilities—and that it is your intention to be a good stepfather as well as a good husband, you'll give her a greater sense of security than she has yet known and will convince her that she can entrust her future happiness into your keeping.

Let Young Man Do Explaining
NITA: His excuse isn't good enough. It's absurd to suppose for a second that he could fall out of love with you overnight simply because he'd learned you were one year younger than you said you were. No, I'm afraid if his affection for you was based on such slight foundation that it could be destroyed this easily—it was never worth much to you in the first place.

Don't dream of apologizing for your age. Let him do what apologizing there is to be done, and don't try to persuade him back if he doesn't want to come. Believe me you haven't done anything to be terribly ashamed of. Realize this and stick up for yourself. Let him do the worrying and the explaining from now on.

bodice arrangement. It's so distinctly individual.

The dropped shoulders are finished with cute puffed sleeves that may be omitted as in miniature view, if you please.

The skirt is very smartly designed to give graceful height to the figure.

A marine blue printed silk is youthfully lovely as the original.

For more dressy wear, pale blue, black or beige lace is very effective.

Style No. 2802 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 35, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 3½ yards 33-inch.

In removing spots from clothing with gasoline, a ring often forms where the spot has been. A little salt sprinkled in the gasoline will prevent this.

When making hooked rugs do not crowd the rows too closely together. You should be able to see the hurlap between the rows as you work.

A teaspoon of mixed pickle spices tied in a small bag and added to the water in which fish, ham or tongue is boiled will add a very pleasing flavor.

To remove nut meats whole from the shell pour hot water on the nuts and let them remain overnight. You can crack them easily and remove the meats in the morning.

HERE'S WHY HILLS BROS BANISHED "BATCH-AND-BULK" METHODS OF ROASTING COFFEE

The unavoidable flavor-variations in bulk-roasting led Hills Bros to invent Controlled Roasting

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time

Patented process roasts "a little at a time" . . . produces same exquisite flavor in every pound

Imagine roasting several hundred pounds of coffee at a time, and roasting every berry alike. And imagine attempting to duplicate the roast in each batch. It can't be done! Each batch varies—and so does the flavor.

Years ago, Hills Bros. replaced that ordinary method with their own invention and patent—Controlled Roasting. Hills Bros. Coffee flows through the roasters evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

Variation is unheard of! Each berry is done to a perfect degree. Every time you make Hills Bros. Coffee, you know what flavor to expect . . . the smoothest, richest flavor of the rare coffees!

Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Try Hills Bros. Coffee. Its pleasant appetizing aroma is truly irresistible. You lift your cup and drink—to enjoy coffee as you never enjoyed it before! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

WE WOMEN
By Virginia Vane

DIVORCEE NEEDS SENSE OF SECURITY TO UNDERTAKE MATRIMONY SECOND TIME

Dear Virginia Vane: Two years ago I met the girl I love. We seemed to care for each other at once—but in a short while she told me that she was married, had three children and was separated from her husband. Also that she was planning for a divorce. Since that time I have been away from her a good deal but have steadily begged her to marry me. I am serious and sensible and know just what I am doing. She has obtained her divorce after much shilly-shallying, but still hesitates about marrying me. She says I do not realize what I am doing and that she will only bring unhappiness to me. I do not believe this. I love her children and am financially able to support them. Do you think that she is just making up excuses to get rid of me. I am 68, she is younger. Do give me your opinion.

JAMES R. F.

One has a little but not time to waste. James, it's true she has had one reason—but during those two years she's been apparently convinced in her own mind that you were just a foolish man who didn't know what he was in for in asking a divorcee with three children to marry him.

Because she is rather weak and vacillating herself she doesn't quite believe that you are as serious and sensible as you say you are. She is making her own plans into your character and thus she's carrying a heavy burden that she can't bear.

Also because she has had some experience in marriage she believes a "come a good deal more about me than you do. In her own way, she is trying to protect you from painful disillusionment. You must convince her that you know exactly what you're doing and that you're fully prepared for all the responsibility which will come your way.

Spend the next few months impressing on her just how steady and reliable you can be and I do believe she'll be able to make to her mind in your favor. Make a special point of talking about the children.

No longer ago a woman told me that she would love to marry Frank. If only Frank would show a normal interest in her little girl. But since

Opening Of Baseball Season To Stimulate Nation's Business

MAGNATESHOPE RACES WILL BE CLOSE ALL YEAR

Yanks, Giants, Cubs Expected to Do Million Dollar Business

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball, even if it draws no better than last year, figures to put between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 into circulation during the 1932 campaign.

In addition to this substantial contribution toward stimulating the country's business, close to $1,000,000, under the proposed new tax bill, will be collected by the sixteen National and American league clubs for the benefit of the United States treasury.

Despite its proportions and well-established organization, the big league game as a whole will be lucky to break even in 1932.

Nine of the sixteen clubs finished "in the red" last year. The majority this season again will likely have difficulty keeping off the financial shoals, despite economies effected by the reduction of salaries and the player limit.

Three Clubs Make Million
Only three clubs can count on doing a million-dollar business—the New York Yankees and Giants and the Chicago Cubs. Brooklyn was in this class two years ago and is one of the biggest potential money-makers in either circuit, but the Flatbush folks are fickle.

Cincinnati and Detroit, two clubs that were hit hard at the "gate" last season, hope to do much better as a result of energetic measures taken to make them more conspicuous in the pennant races. The winter championship don't make much, even when the win.

All the magnates are hoping there will be no duplication of the one-sided finishes of 1931. Attendance last September fell off like the leaves of autumn when the Athletics and Cardinals ran away from the pack. Few realize the heavy costs involved in operating a major league baseball enterprise or the difficulties of this, most of the time, to balance their budgets. The sport is subject to the caprices of the crowds as well as the weather, with no method of controlling either element.

The payrolls alone for the two leagues run between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 in the aggregate. The players account for at least 8 percent of this. Each club maintains a large staff of employees, many of them the year round. In addition each club contributes pro-rata to the maintenance of the two league organizations, as well as to the advisory council, headed by K. M. Landis, $65,000-a-year commissioner.

Nowadays the big league athletes travel in Pullmans and live at the best hotels. Hotel bills, for instance, run at $100 a week for a club, and the railroad expenses are more than twice as heavy. The National league's railroad costs alone amounted to $200,000 in 1931 and the American league's expenses in this respect were no less. Thus it costs at least $50,000 on the average, per club, to transport and board the athletes.

Taxes, chain-store sales, scouting, practice and training expenses combine to eat up close to another $1,000,000. It costs at least $200 a day, on the average, just to open a big league park.

To cover all this overhead, the turnstiles must click at a brisk tune, especially when it is taken into account that the Tankees alone last year admitted close to 3,000 persons free, daily, including all varieties of "deadheads."

COLLEGE BOXERS TRY FOR OLYMPIC POSTS

State College, Pa. (AP)—The fight for the right to represent the United States in the Olympic boxing tournament was on at Penn State college here today.

Many of the best college boxers in the nation lined up to weigh in this morning for the intercollegiate boxing championship tournament and Olympic tryouts slated to start this afternoon.

Fifteen preliminary bouts were scheduled for this afternoon and two for tonight. The survivors will meet in the semi-finals tomorrow afternoon, and the finals tomorrow night.

Representatives of colleges in the four corners of the country were quartered last night in Varsity hall, traditional home of Penn State athletes.

MERCHANT BASEBALL SQUAD MEETS TONIGHT

Appleton Merchant baseball players, runners up in the Central Wisconsin league last year, will meet at the Y. N. C. A. tonight to discuss plans for coming season. Harm Tonn, well known in valley baseball circles will manage the team and Eddie Holme will be field captain. The Merchants have added four new men to their squad and now have the limit of players under Little Fox league rules. The Merchants are playing with the new loop this summer.

COMPLETE CARD FOR SCHMELING EXHIBITION

Oshkosh (AP)—Dick Sisk, Chicago and Frankie Hughes, Clinton, Ind., will headline the program in an 8 round bout on the card here Monday, April 25, supporting the exhibition of Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world.

Freddie Tompkins, Milwaukee and Johnny Hughes, brother of Frankie, and Winston Thomas and "Big" Handcock and Herbie Thompson and Dave Churkey are featured in six rounds.

MANAGER WILBERT ROBINSON OF BROOKLYN, RUSHED FROM THE DUGOUT TO KICK TO THE UMP—BUT ON THE WAY, HE WHISPERED HIS APPROVAL TO SEVE.

Training Camp Notes

Columbus (AP)—The New York Yankees checked up on individual batting averages today and discovered Sammy Byrd, reserve outfielder, was the leading hitter of the spring training campaign.

Byrd set up an average of .343 compared with .331 for Babe Ruth and .342 for Frank Crosetti.

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—Hack Wilson, portly outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers, seems to have won his battle with old-man avoidance.

When Wilson reported for training he weighed 220 pounds. Now he's down to a meagre 207, five pounds lighter than he was two years ago when he hit 55 home runs for the Chicago Cubs.

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—The New York Giants have found Eddie Moore a mighty useful utility infielder.

Ediths has filled in at second, shortstop and third at various times and has been batting well. The Giants scored five runs against Detroit in one inning yesterday and three of them came home on a rousing double by Moore with the bases filled.

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—Effective pitching by Sarge Connally and Thornton (Lefty) Lee gladdened the hearts of the Cleveland Indians to investigate DEATH OF FAMOUS HORSE

Menlo Park, Calif. (AP)—Investigation into the cause of the death here Tuesday of Phar Lap, great Australian thoroughbred, brought elimination of one theory today.

G. J. Morton, chief of the San Francisco office of food and drug administration, U. S. department of agriculture, said his belief the race horse might have been poisoned by pest spray was not supported by facts.

The trees in the paddock of Ed Perry's ranch, where the horse was allowed to roam, showed no evidence of having been sprayed with lead arsenate, the pest spray, Morton said.

Dr. Karl F. Meyer of the University of California, who is making a chemical analysis of the contents of Phar Lap's stomach, said the analysis probably would be completed by tonight.

KING LEVINSKY NOW SERIOUS ABOUT GAME

Chicago (AP)—It seems that "Leaping Lena" Levy has made a serious fighting man out of her kid brother, King Levinsky, the up and coming heavyweight from Maxwell, N. Y.

The King used to spend most of his time tossing throws at his friends instead of jumping into serious training, but today he started out on a three week drill to get ready for his 19 round battle with Mickey Walker at the Chicago Stadium.

Manager "Lena" is reported, showed the King just what money can do during his vacation in the south and the ex-fighter is more serious about success than ever before.

WEST COAST CREWS IN ANNUAL CLASH

Seattle, Wn. (AP)—Racing crews of California and Washington put on the polishing touches today for the twenty-ninth Pacific coast rowing regatta on Lake Washington here tomorrow.

This crew classic of the west marks the opening of the 1932 rowing season in the United States, with the Olympic games championship furnishing a sparkling climax at Long Beach, Calif., in August.

A. B. C. TOURNEY IN THE HOME STRETCH

Everett Scott, Former Yank Star and Partner 9th in Doubles

Detroit (AP)—Out of town teams will hold the drivers for the remainder of the American Bowling tournament, now in the home stretch.

Tonight, 24 cities will send teams in quest of the highest honors bowling offers. Brucks, of Chicago, will hold the spotlight as the champion lineup of 1929, when it established an A. B. C. record of 3,095.

Two squads of 64 teams, among them Cleveland's highly touted Canfield club, failed to dislodge the team leaders last night.

On the afternoon shift, Eddie Priests, young Detroit, refused to be discouraged by three splits in the first six innings of his final game, and struck out from the seventh inning for a 211 score. His total of 714 gave him fourth place in the singles and boosted his grand total to 1,855 in third place in the all-events.

Everett Scott, former Red Sox and New York Yankees baseball player, teamed with Eddie Kraft, of Fort Wayne, Ind., to take ninth place in the doubles with 1,285. With a perfect score in sight in his third game, Scott fell off after ten strikes, but his 289 stands as second high game of the tournament.

Here for the presentation of a gold trophy will be Sir Thomas to the New York Yacht club. Col. Neil said business conditions might interfere with British challenges for the cup for some years to come.

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—Invasion of European tennis courts this year by two famous California Heleins was assured today with the announcement of Miss Helen Jacobs said she would leave Tuesday for Berlin.

Yesterday Mrs. Helen Wills Moody announced she would sail from New York April 27 to compete at Paris, London and Wimbledon.

Miss Jacobs said she would enter the German championship tournament next month.

Managers All Appear Well Pleased Over New Players

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1932
NEW YORK (CPA)—Managers of at least three of the National league clubs are outspoken today in voicing opinions that they have made decided improvements in their teams for the 1932 pennant chase.

Manager Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs is slightly more reticent than either Manager Carey of Brooklyn or Manager Howley of Cincinnati, but his actions speak as loudly as the words of the others.

What did Chicago get? The Stanley Hack, a third baseman. He began like a sterling ball player and has continued like one. When Hack began to do so well from the very start at Canadian Island, Californians and others told Hornsby that Hack was good because he was in capital condition physically, having been playing all winter. They intimated that when other players began to get good Hack would not appear so skillful.

"Humph," said Hornsby, in his straight-from-the-shoulder way of talking, "I wonder if these fellows think I am blind."

Hornsby makes up his mind quickly about players. Either they play ball to suit him or they don't. He might keep a player because he is good to do so until he found a better one, but fled away in his noodle there would be an opinion in regard to that player's skill formed in cold blood and probably never to be shaken.

In any event Hornsby has permitted Lester Bell, the Cubs' former third baseman, to go to Louisville as part of the deal by which the Cubs obtained Billy Herman. That means a Chicago infield made up of Grimes at first base, Hornsby at second, English at short and Hack at third.

Grimes Making Good
Who else has Hornsby got that didn't have and that is proving good? Burleigh Grimes. Without exception,

He has been drinking his pint of milk at breakfast and lunch ever since.

Frank McCormick, member of the Minnesota Athletic staff two years in varsity baseball coach, until recent shifts he tutored the football backfielders. Last week he was named Minnesota athletic director.

Between baseball periods he devotes some time to working with Dr. L. J. Cooke, veteran of the Gopher sports department, now acting athletic director in the absence of H. O. Crisler.

Crisler, who leaves permanently on June 1 to become head football coach at Princeton, is there now directing spring practice.

McCormick urges general student participation in sports. He took part in several as a university of South Dakota star, and later had coaching jobs there, at his alma mater, the University of Illinois, and at Columbia college, Sioux Falls, S. D.

He dislikes cutting a squad—because he believes students should be on the playing field, and not so many in the stands.

"You know," he said when a question among his baseballers was in order, "the game is for them so why not let them play it? I've got to cut the squad, but I hate to do it."

He and Major J. L. Griffith, Big Ten sports commissioner, are given credit generally for organizing the American Legion's junior baseball plan.

McCormick, 27 years old, is a world war veteran, served as assistant federal district attorney for South Dakota, and was American legion commander for South Dakota before coming here.

Four Games Scheduled Tonight; Miller Cords Battle Mountain

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS
Benton and Jimos, Appleton, 25, Home Grovers, Neenah 6.
Pulaski 46, Howard's Grove 25.
Oshkosh 32, Alpha Swans 31.
Menasha K. C. 39, Outagamie Mills 19.

TONIGHT'S GAMES

Two—Port Howard Papers vs. New Franken Hawks.
3:00—Neenah Wildcats vs. Gustman Cheviels, Kaukauna.
9:00—Appleton Miller Cords vs. Mountain Cardinals.

WITH four of the best teams in this section of the state playing in the first round the Northwestern Wisconsin Basketball Tournament opened last night at S. A. Cook armory, Neenah. Although the first night crowd as usual was not large the fans who turned out saw some type of basketball and all went home well pleased.

Tonight at 7, 8, 9 and 10 o'clock eight more teams will go into action in four games, completing the first round play. Saturday night the elimination round will be played and on Sunday afternoon the semifinal elimination with final play Sunday night for first, second, third and fourth place.

The tournament opened with the Benton & Jimos Hat Shop team of Appleton showing a lot of power and a good passing game, against the Home Grocery team of Neenah. The first quarter ended fairly close with Appleton leading 5 to 1 but from then on the former high school stars walked away and the half ended 15 to 3, third quarter score was 17 to 3 and the final score 25 to 6. Verbrick, Mortel and Vetter were the high point men for Appleton.

In the second game of the evening Pulaski defeated Howard's Grove. The fans expected a thriller as the first quarter was fairly close with the score 13 to 8 in favor of Pulaski. The half ended 20 to 15 and it still looked like Howard's Grove would stave a strong rally. However, superior height and weight told its story and the third quarter ended with Pulaski leading 25 to 18 and the first half ending 48 to 25. Drier, Knuth and Kollers were the high point makers for Howard Grove while the entire Pulaski team starred at the hoop.

Play Two Overtimes
The third game of the evening the fans were treated to one of the best games ever played on the Neenah floor. Both teams showed a passing attack that at times was so fast and accurate that it was hard to follow. The play changed from one team to the other. Oshkosh led at the quarter 8 to 6, at the half 16 to 11 and the third quarter 20 to 12. At this point Green Bay started a rally and when the final score sounded the score was tied at 25 all. In the overtime period both teams scored four points and the score remained tied again at 29 all. In the second overtime period Green Bay scored a field goal and a shot time was going short. Glantz in a final desperate effort sent the ball through the hoop from the center of the floor and was awarded a free throw which was made and decided the game for Oshkosh 32 to 31.

In the fourth and final game of the evening the Menasha K. C. with a well rounded organization working smoothly defeated the Outagamie Mills of Appleton by a score of 39 to 19. The Mills were handicapped by the absence of two of their star players who are out on injuries. The score at the quarter was 15 to 6, at the half 21 to 15, Goddard, Bell and Vetter were high point men for Menasha and Hofkins. Reetz and Welles shined for the Mills.

The schedule for tonight is Green Bay Port Howard Papers vs. New Franken Black Hawks at 7 o'clock. Neenah Wildcats vs. Gustman Cheviels of Kaukauna at 8 and Appleton Miller Cords vs. Mountain Cardinals at 9. The last game will show two teams not selected.

All four games were handled by Jake Zussman of Lawrence and Dave Bender of Appleton.

SMALL STRUCTURAL DETAILS ARE CAUSE FOR MOST CRASHES

Analysis Shows That Drivers Must Not Overlook "Little Things"

Sacramento, Calif.—It's not the failure of the motorist so much as it is the peculiar structural features of the automobile he's driving that causes traffic accidents. So reports Victor W. Killik, statistician of the Division of Motor Vehicles and California Highway Patrol, to the Society of Automotive Engineers.

You wouldn't suspect the front body pillars, or windshield corner posts, the narrow side and rear windows, or the steering wheel to cause the death of many motorists. Yet, in a careful survey, Killik has found these little items to be the chief causes of accidents.

In an effort to get at the root of the auto accident evil, he disregarded the official reports of 41,000 accidents in the state and personally interviewed or corresponded with hundreds of persons involved in them. "Careful analysis of these reports and open-minded investigation among drivers who had been involved in serious traffic accidents showed that the usual accident report seldom if ever reveals the primary cause, and that the largest group of accidents are collisions that occur at highway intersections and railroad crossings," he reports.

Drivers are "Blind"

Killik spent many hours studying obstructions to drivers' views. He found many of the accidents occurred to cars having a corner post with a diagonal of five inches or more across the horizontal section. This post had the effect of obscuring a section of road equal to the length of the base of a triangle formed with the eye as an apex and the sides extending from the pupil past the sides of the corner post.

He also found that low seats caused numerous fatal accidents. In this instance, most accidents were at intersections where a driver was waiting for a traffic light to change. In the low seat, and with his eyes concentrated on the light, he failed to observe pedestrians crossing the street. With the change of the light he was off—and a moment later, his low seat had caused numerous accidents by obscuring the view of the right side of the road and causing the driver to veer into a ditch.

Dangerous Switch

"The light switch on top of the steering column, as a feature of modern design, has definitely been responsible for several thousand accidents, injuries and death to riders in California during the last year," Killik says in explaining the danger of this feature.

"While driving along the highway on a dark night and approaching a turn, the driver, in turning the steering wheel, has frequently caught his coat sleeve in the sliding light-switch on the steering column and has inadvertently switched off the lights in the very act of making the turn. Traveling at a high rate of speed, cars have as a consequence run off the road and turned over or collided with objects."

In citing the danger of light switches on the steering column, Killik points also to the evils of "one-eyed" cars, saying that they are positive dangers in that they make it uncertain to any oncoming driver on which side of the road they are. Then, too, he says the courteous habit of some drivers to dim their lights for the benefit of oncoming cars, is dangerous. At high speeds, the interval between the switch from bright to dim is often long enough to bring cars very close together. This sometimes results in a blind period which causes accidents.

Narrow Windows

Narrow rear windows allowing only a limited view through the

Kidnaper Held

rear-view mirror, often causes a driver to think it is safe to turn out and pass another car when, as a matter of fact, his rear window will not allow the mirror to register the approach of a car on his left side. Another cause of accidents.

The slowness of mental action of drivers traveling at high speed accounts for numerous accidents. Killik has found. At only 40 miles an hour, a car is going more than 58 feet a second. If it takes a second for a driver's mind to register an obstruction in the road going at that speed, he is 58 feet closer to it before he is ready to do anything about it. In the majority of cases, if the car's brakes are not working perfectly, a driver has to do some tall braking to avoid an accident.

"To the engineers who have it within their power to shape and build motor vehicles, I cannot emphasize too much the importance of giving first consideration to the driver's easy operation of the road," Killik declares. "Clear vision means the saving of precious seconds and split seconds in an emergency. It is a delicate matter in which is wrapped up a tremendous amount of safety significance."

WHAT A LAW

London—Prohibition in the United States may be a joke, but liquor regulations here are just as funny. Recently Mrs. Harriet A. C. Clarke, wife of a Slathwaite hotel keeper, gave two glasses of beer to window-cleaners. She was summoned to court for supplying intoxicants during prohibited hours. One of the regulations says that a patron of a night club cannot have a drink after 11 p. m. without ordering a meal. A sandwich constitutes a meal only if the waiter supplies a knife and fork.

EAT MORE; LOSE 10 POUNDS OF FAT IN 10 DAYS

An Italian Discovery

1ST DAY 10TH DAY

Drink Water Before Breakfast and Make One Change in Diet Only to Rip Off Ten Pounds in 10 Days

HERE is sweet music, in scientific tempo, for fat people's ears. "Eat more to grow thin."

Thanks to a unique Italian discovery, thousands of people are doing it. Losing as much as seven pounds a week, and building their health as well.

Here's the way. So if you want to get rid of some bulk, cut this article out and save it. Chances are, in a week, your friends will be wondering what you've been doing to yourself to get rid of the fat they used to tease you about.

What You Do

FIRST: As soon as you get up in the morning, put two tablespoons of sparkling Brioschi Italian effervescent in a half glass of cool water; and drink it down while it is still effervescent. This tends to de-acidify the system before food touches the stomach.

NEXT: Make just one simple change in your diet. Eat DOUBLE the quantity you now eat of certain foods; and cut down on others. Here are the foods to double on; the ones to cut down on.

TOO FAT 10 LBS. OFF

fruit instead of pastry. Cut down on butter but don't cut it out entirely.

BEFORE BED: Repeat two table-spoonfuls of sparkling Italian Brioschi in half a glass of water to again de-acidify the stomach. Don't think, either, that this is hard. It makes a really pleasant drink that tastes like lemonade, not like vile-tasting salts. So everything is easy.

The result of this dietary change will be that you'll really have more than you want to eat, yet will see fat go in a way you wouldn't have believed. And, you'll feel more active than you probably have for years. For the diet that takes off the fat, cut this article out and save it. The de-acidifier you use is called Brioschi Italian effervescent (pronounced Bree-oh-schi). You can get it at any drug store.

IOWA WOULD SETTLE FARMER-HUNTER WAR
Des Moines, Iowa — (AP) — Measures designed to effect a "better relationship between farmers and sportsmen" are being considered by the Iowa state fish and game commission.

Dr. W. C. Boone chairman, said that plans adopted in Nebraska, Michigan, and Ohio may be inaugurated in Iowa so farmers may receive some return for raising pheasants.

Experimental stations in various parts of the state are seen as a possibility in an attempt to determine most effective means of increasing the number of birds.

WATCH-SIZED MAP 4,000 YEARS OLD SHOWS MOUNTAINS

Also Designates Rivers—Sketch Drawn on Old Clay Tablet

Cambridge, Mass. — (AP) — The world's oldest map drawn more than 4,000 years ago is not much larger than a lady's watch.

It is a clay tablet, found 10 miles north of Babylon in the ruins of the town of Gassur, by excavators for the Semitic and the Fogg Museums of Harvard.

The symbols on this may would be easier to recognize than those of a modern one for a person who never had seen any kind of map. Mountains are shown by rounded lines resembling cobbles. Two rivers are indicated by parallel lines somewhat like looking down on a double track railway from a plane a mile aloft.

The waters of a sea are shown like children's drawings which use horizontal dashes, with a tip and a tail to indicate motion. The map is the land of Sumer, judging by the size of its domain and the markings, civilization was far advanced 4,000 years ago.

"Without doubt the most important find from this area," says R. F. Starr of the Fogg Art Museum, who directed the excavations, "is a clay tablet on which is drawn a map representing a valley with mountains on either side, between which flows a river to the sea."

"Another stream runs in a southeasterly direction into the neighboring valley and off the map. Inscriptions on the edge of the tablet indicate north and south, and on the face of the tablet are place names of various points on the map itself."

"The locality presented has not yet been established, but one place name which can be read as 'the fortress of Ishtar' would indicate the locality as being northern Sumer. Regardless of the still existing uncertainty it remains the earliest map yet found, and an object of great importance."

This Gassur map were found beneath the town of Nuzi, which is identified as 3,500 years old. The clay map was buried 20 feet deep. Five weeks of careful digging and sifting were required to separate it from the surrounding earth and to clean up its surface.

Four thousand years put a dozen cracks in the tablet and took some chips out of its face, but not enough to obliterate a clear record of its nature.

The Deam herbarium, consisting of between 5,000 and 6,000 Indiana plants, has been acquired by Indiana university department of botany.

EUGENE O'NEILL BUILDS NEW HOME ALONG SEA SHORE

Dramatist's Moods and Taste Reflected in 22-room Residence

Sea Island Beach, Ga. — (AP) — Here among the moss-draped sanctuaries, restless waves and shifting sand dunes, Eugene O'Neill, the dramatist, is building a house.

It is not an ordinary home, for it reflects the tastes and moods of both the playwright and his wife, Carlotta Monterey O'Neill, the former actress. It will contain 22 rooms.

It is not to be a social rendezvous but a workshop, livable, low-keyed and a world all its own with complete seclusion wrought on a but the seaward side by a wall of towering dunes.

There will be a full view of the sea through the laggia of the home and from the grid-iron terraces, with only a few scattering palms, to stay the sometimes brisk sea winds.

The O'Neills decided to build a home here when they came to Sea Island Beach a few months ago, when the dramatist fled from the pressures that attended his production of "The Iceman Cometh."

O'Neill's own room is a tremendous one with an adjoining study, whose appointments will be suggestive of the sea, which leads to a sun deck which gives a far-reaching view for miles of land and sea.

A courtyard fringed with azaleas will form the inviting entrance while leading from the passage will be the terrace. Outlining the patio will be shrubs and flowers to land color and fragrance and beauty.

The house will be ready for occupancy about June 1.

FINDS THAT BOTTOM OF SEA DROPS 120 FEET

Washington — (AP) — The greatest sudden sinking of any part of the earth's surface ever known was a drop of 120 feet, and it happened under the sea.

The sudden "drop" was discovered by a vessel of the U. S. coast and geodetic survey in the Sulu sea in the Philippine Islands.

A bank or shoal was found, about two miles long and half a mile wide, at a depth of from eight to ten fathoms or 45 to 55 feet.

Two days later the same shoal was re-surveyed, and it was found that the shoal had sunk to a depth of 120 feet greater than before, although the two ends remained the same.

No such subsidence ever has been recorded on land, even at the epicenter of the severest earthquakes. The cause of it is unknown, but may have been an undersea earthquake.

SMOKE UP! HENRY GEORGE CIGAR $1000. Contest ENDS APRIL 16th...

HOW many words have you made so far out of Henry George Cigar? How many times have you blessed this contest for calling your attention to this wonderful 5 cent cigar?

Did you ever form a good habit so quickly? And what a sensible habit it is to smoke cigars that are so mild, so mellow, so fragrant! And what little money to pay for such rich pleasure!

You don't need to be reminded to buy Henry George Cigars—but be sure your contest envelope is postmarked before midnight, April 16th.

HONOR MEMORY OF RITTENHOUSE

200th Birthday of Great Scientist Observed in Philadelphia

Philadelphia—(AP)—In Philadelphia today and tomorrow is centered the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of David Rittenhouse, farm boy who rose to eminence in science and public affairs. Anniversary meetings and dinners will be held by the American Philosophical society, of which Rittenhouse was the second president, after Benjamin Franklin's death; the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, where the famous Rittenhouse orrery which determines the time, duration and path of eclipses for 5,000 years before the instrument was constructed and for 5,000 years after, is exhibited; the Rittenhouse

NO CHANGE APPARENT IN HAWKS' CONDITION

Worcester, Mass.—(AP)—No untoward change appeared this morning in the condition of Captain Hawks, said Dr. George A. MacIver, superintendent of City hospital, where the speed flier was taken yesterday after his plane cracked up at the North Grafton airport in an attempted take-off for Boston. Dr. MacIver said the famous record holder slept fitfully throughout the night and that his temperature this morning is normal.

X-ray pictures are to be taken this morning to learn the extent of possible internal injuries or a fracture of the skull. Dr. MacIver said no skull fracture was apparent. The surgeons in charge of Captain Hawks' case will issue an official bulletin after they make their morning examination.

Astronomical society, and other scientific groups. Rittenhouse, who as a farm boy living near Norristown, Pa., chalked out pictures of the constellations and computed mathematical formulas on barn walls, rose to fame rapidly after his establishment as a clockmaker at the age of 17. His calculations of the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania made to settle a long-standing dispute, were so accurate that they were used as a basis for the Mason-Dixon line. As first director of the United States mint he directed the construction and installation of all the apparatus. He died June 26, 1796.

PASTEURIZED MILK For Health And Vigor

Drinking a glass of milk with each meal and taking the fourth cup in the form of cream soups, white sauce or custards is the best way of assuring the daily quart of milk. For the vigorous carefree life of childhood, as well as the busy routine of adult life, milk best supplies the body's needs.

Scientific experiments show that milk introduced early into a child's diet and continued throughout life not only produce better growth, but directly affects the health of the teeth and increases the span of life.

CHANCE PLAYS LEADING ROLE IN POLITICS

Take Case of Crisp, Who Became National Figure Through Defeat

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington — The element of chance, which always supplies the spice of politics, appears to have reserved an especially beautiful bag of tricks for 1932. "It" has become the key word in the vocabulary of the politicians.

If business improves, no matter what the cause, everyone agrees President Hoover's chances of reelection will benefit greatly. Among the Democrats, the presidential nomination itself is so much a gamble that you would have no trouble placing almost any kind of bet.

Amid the uncertainties of this time of unrest, it is worth while to take careful notice when a new figure suddenly rises to national stature. You never can tell what will happen.

Crisp To The Fore

Consider Charles R. Crisp of Georgia.

For nearly 20 years he has been a member of the house. But to the country at large he was just another congressman.

Then illness kept the chairman of the ways and means committee away, and Crisp became acting chairman and floor manager for the tax bill.

Unexpectedly, Speaker John N. Garner kept out of the fight and was not even present when the explosive sales tax dispute came to its decision. The Democratic leadership of the house was going to pieces, and it was Crisp who was left to take the rap.

No one who saw how he took it can ever forget that picture. Standing with squared shoulders in the midst of a seething house, he was a rock in a storm.

When the fight was over, it was not the spectacular leaders of the victorious insurgents but this soft spoken Georgian, leader of the vanquished, for whom the house rose in a remarkable personal tribute.

Through defeat, Crisp has become a national figure. It would not be strange if much more were heard of him in the future.

Up Pops Mills

Consider Ogden L. Mills of New York.

When he was made undersecretary of the treasury in 1927, after Al Smith had smothered out his candidacy for the New York governorship, it was the custom to speak of him as distinctly a "lame duck" appointee.

Less than a year ago, while Secretary Mellon was abroad, and Mills was acting secretary, a world financial crisis made Washington once more the capital of the world.

He did so well in the moratorium negotiations, and in other difficult tasks that when Mellon resigned Mills went in almost automatically.

People who see themselves as others see them must have time for reflection.

The other day he addressed a meeting of the directors of the United States chamber of commerce. He arrived riding on a commandeered treasury truck, because he was late and in a hurry.

He presented to the assembled industrial leaders an analysis of fiscal affairs which left some of them saying that the republican party might go further and do worse than to name Mills for the presidency in 1936.

Bulkeley Comes Back

Consider Robert J. Bulkeley of Ohio.

In 1930 he had a brief season of presidential possibility fame when, as an anti-prohibition Democrat, he was overwhelmingly elected senator by the Republican home state of the anti-saloon league.

Then he went into eclipse. Newton D. Baker, James M. Cox and Governor George White were given preference by the Ohio Democracy, and White finally was pledged the delegation. Now neither Baker nor Cox is gathering any delegates, and White's administration at Columbus has come under heavy criticism.

Meantime, too, those who thought Speaker Garner could stop the onrush of the campaign for Franklin D. Roosevelt have been disappointed by the collapse of Garner's house leadership.

Today one of the shrewdest Washington politicians is predicting that if Roosevelt is stopped Bulkeley will be the nominee. Stranger things have happened.

STAMP LEADER

London—London now claims the lead in the world's stamp trade. During the past year more than $2,500,000 was spent in stamp auctions here. One stamp on display during the year was the one-cent British Guiana stamp which is probably worth $90,000.

STATE PROBATION LAW REVEALS TEETH

Green Bay — (P)—The state of Wisconsin is demonstrating that its probation law has teeth. Within a week eight probationers of the district, who have violated some of the conditions under which they were given liberty, have been returned to the reformatory and state prison. It was reported by E. T. Sullivan, state probation officer.

"The probation system is an essential part of the state's penal system," Sullivan said. "Men at liberty under supervision of the state board of control are, in a sense, just as much in custody as men who are in barred cells. The fact that they are at liberty makes all the more strict their obligation to observe exact rules of conduct."

No court action is necessary to return men to jail from probation.

Your Birthday

"ARIES"

If April 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 to 1 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:45 a. m. to 10:45 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:40 p. m.

There are no outstanding indications, good or bad, from an astrological standpoint, for April 9th. The history of the day lies in your own hands, and it is up to you whether

And no time is allowed for the period of probation if its conditions have been violated.

One man's probation was ended for gambling and beating his wife. Another married without permission. Still another left Green Bay without permission.

It be good, bad, or indifferent. More invigorating influences will come in force late in the day and any social functions for the evening should go through with a bang.

Children born on this April 9th will have exacting natures, from which they will reap more discontentment than comfort or happiness. Impetuosity will mark the disposition and they will easily fly off the handle. They will be difficult to influence and will stubbornly resist interference.

Born on April 9th, you have a firm character, but are naturally quiet and not in the least pugnacious. You are a natural born leader, although you do not try to impose your will upon others. You can work equally as well with others as alone. You are easy going, until your toes are stepped on and then the fur flies. Your insight into human nature is well developed and you are an excellent character reader. Guilty, self-conscious people feel uncomfortable under your penetrating gaze. You are capable of abstract reasoning, and you are left untouched by the crowd's moods.

Change of any kind is foreign to your nature and once you have found a congenial channel in which to work, you do not easily forsake it unless compelled by circumstances to do so. You are faithful and sincere in both your business and family life. Planetary aspects are favorable to you in the way of friends and social and public relations generally.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT CERTIFIED FOR FOOD VALUE

Philadelphia Laboratory Certifies the Improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

One of the greatest tributes to quality ever paid a food product is the fact that the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia now certifies every package of the new, improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit for food value.

These delicious biscuits are unusually rich in proteins, minerals, vitamins and other important food elements. One reason for this is the fact that the biscuits are "pressure-cooked"—a process that retains all the food value of the whole wheat. "Pressure-cooking" also bakes in a rich, tempting flavor that every one praises.

The new Kellogg's biscuit has many welcome features. It is toasted brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. It is made in a new, convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl; and you get 15 to the package—which means added economy.

Served with hot or cold milk or cream, fruit or honey added—Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are delightful and wholesome for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers. Easy to digest and very nourishing.

Local grocers report that this improved shredded biscuit is meeting with hearty acceptance. It may be identified by the familiar red-and-green Kellogg's package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

For Fine Cookery Amaizo CRYSTAL WHITE —the clear syrup

This is a syrup of Amaizo purity and quality, produced for cooking use. Being crystal clear, it is especially suitable for dainty desserts, candy, cakes, sauces, etc., where a deep tint is not desired.

Approved by Good Housekeeping Institute and used by expert cooks and particular housewives everywhere.

Amaizo Golden Syrup is another Amaizo product of equally high grade and of delicious flavor. It is the favorite table syrup, for pancakes and waffles and for general use as a spread on bread, biscuits, etc.

At all grocers—Look for the Amaizo name and the gingham background design.

GROWN-UPS, young 'uns, people who like hearty breakfasts and those who "grab a bite"—Listen!

Grape-Nuts Flakes is as different from usual cereals as cake is from bread. Golden as butter! Crinkly as popcorn. And rich with a famous nut-sweet flavor—the flavor of Grape-Nuts—a flavor now also in the curliest, crispiest of flakes!

Grape-Nuts Flakes, served with whole milk or cream, supplies more varied nourishment than many a hearty meal. Get it from your grocer to-day. Grape-Nuts and Grape-Nuts Flakes are both products of General Foods Corporation.

Two Great Companion Cereals—Grape-Nuts and Grape-Nuts Flakes—serve both often. Enjoy the Grape-Nuts flavor in this new Flakes form. And keep on enjoying it in the familiar, nut-like kernels of GRAPE-NUTS itself—the crisp kernels so beneficial to teeth and gums.

BAGG AND M'HARG ON CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Rufus M. Bagg, professor of geology and mineralogy, and John B. MacHarg, professor of American history at Lawrence college, will present papers on their respective fields at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts, and Letters, at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, today and tomorrow.

Dr. Bagg will deliver the feature lecture of the evening on Friday in address entitled "Yesterday and Today," a lecture prepared on three months of travel in South America. Those participating in the Academy programs include authorities from midwest colleges, universities, and museums, each presenting a special discussion of some subject closely related to their particular fields.

NO EMBARRASSMENT
Fort Worth, Tex.—Two policemen at Seventh and Main-sts had an embarrassing situation to handle, but the fellow who created it wasn't moved a bit. He calmly stopped in the middle of the intersection and offered his trousers. The officers rushed him behind some buildings until they had him clothed again. Police said he was a mental case.

KITTY FREW
by JANE ABBOTT
SYNOPSIS: "Call it a bad business," David Frew says of the marriage of his half-brother Gar and Kitty, whom he is advising. Kitty has run away from Gar because he is too impractical to support her, but she expects him to come and get her. Meanwhile, she is working.
Chapter 23
"YOU mean—divorce him?" She said it slowly, in a low tone. "Of course. You're young. You'll find a real man, sometime."
She put out her hands as if to push him out of her sight. The blood rushed to her face in a hot flood. Bright angry tears filled her eyes.
"Don't say that to me, David! Don't! You've spoiled everything. I've thought you were so kind, that you wanted me to be happy. I've felt so grateful. And you can stand there and say that! Oh, it's that you don't know what it is to love anyone as I love Gar!" She turned away from him and walked swiftly, a little blindly, toward the door.
He reached it before her. He took her shoulders and, gently wheeled her about.
"Forget that I said it, Kitty. I'm a fool! It's that I care a great deal about your being happy. Smile, Kitty," he implored.
She smiled up at him, a constrained, reproving little smile. "You can be so nice when you want to be, David, and then you can be so perfectly horrid!"
It was as near a truce as she would make; he had to accept it.
There was no letter for her on the bottom step of the stairs the next night when she came home. Nor the next. A week passed, days of intolerable waiting, hoping, and then another week when she couldn't hope.
She avoided Dorcas, the little gath- ings around Dorcas' fire. She avoided David. David thought her a fool. Well, perhaps she was—
At Stratton's she worked with desperate eagerness, because so working she could crowd her wretchedness out of her mind. Miss Lee had com- mended her more than once, out of hearing of the others.
It was Miss Lee's policy to give men customers very alert attention when they came into the depart- ment. One afternoon, an hour be- fore closing time, a man came around the mahogany partition that divided the sportswear department from the coats and dressers. Kitty was putting blouses in their tissue-paper cases.
"Miss Brandon!" Miss Lee sig- naled.
And Kitty, lifting her head, looked straight into Tubby Wilkins' amazed face.
"Kit!" He used Gar's name for her.
"Can I help you?" She said it mechanically, without knowing that she said it. Her knees shook, her fingers clutched the satin of the blouse she was holding.
Tubby was staring, his eyes round. "Say, you are Kitty, aren't you?"
"Yes, I am." And then Kitty laughed. She laughed because it was good to see Tubby's friendly plump face, and because he looked so ridi- culously unbelieving.
Tubby turned his head to right and left. Then he leaned across the counter. "What's the big idea."
"SENDING HIS TRUNK? WHAT DOES HE EXPECT TO DO—ROOT IN HERE AND BECOME A PART OF THE SCENERY?—HMF, I SUPPOSE I HAVE NOTHING TO SAY IN THE MATTER, EH?—I'M JUST THE SLAVING WIFE, AND TIMID DAUGHTER-IN-LAW! WELL, I'LL MEASURE OFF PAP HOOPLE WHEN HE STEERS IN HERE!"
PAP THINKS IT'S THE MAJOR'S HOUSE.
Sez Hugh:
THE FACT THAT A BOOK IS THICK ISN'T NECESSARILY A REFLECTION ON THE AUTHOR!
Will Gar come? Kitty still looks hopefully for him, tomorrow.
NO NIP FOR FLU
Indianapolis, Ind.—Police entered the home of Earl Sells and found 327 pints of bonded liquor in a sub-cellar. The liquor was valued at $2,000. Sells, sick in bed with the flu, pleaded with the officers to leave him a pint "to cure his flu," but the hard-hearted officers refused. Sells was ordered to report at headquarters for arrest when he recovered.
It is estimated that there are from three to six million hay-fever suf- ferers in the United States.

TAXES RAISED BY PRESSURE OF MINORITIES

Taxpayers Not Organized Properly to Fight Off Demands for Funds

(In this, the eleventh of a series of twelve articles on Balancing the Budget, David Lawrence describes the pressure upon congress for appropriations and the general indifference of the public to the activities of minority groups.)

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1932, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington — Public interest in taxation and the cost of government has only recently begun to show signs of life.

For many years a limited number of people have tried to focus attention on a better distribution of the tax burden but with little results. Congress has gone much further under the budget system than before that reform was introduced but there still remains a major defect in the process whereby federal money is spent.

At present, the usual procedure is for the executive branch of the government to present its estimates after they have been carefully revised by the budget bureau. They have the approval of the president and the department heads before being transmitted to congress. When, however, the proposed expenditure reach the legislative body, it is manifestly impossible for all members of the house and senate to study such items. It is true that the two appropriations committees work night and day listening to testimony from the department officials and bureau chiefs and every detail is made available to the legislators. But the whole proceeding is based upon the assumption that there is a definite purpose or policy on the part of the federal government in the matter of expenditures. Actually, party politics, group politics and special local desires are all interwoven in the matter of spending federal money.

Lately the house of representatives appointed a special committee on economy to make recommendations on particular points which it was assumed the appropriations committee would be too busy to deal with. In other words, a committee of review was established to see whether investigations could be conducted and reports brought in on possible economies.

Too Busy With Detail
The appropriations committees are so busy with the detail that they are not able to give much consideration to the national policy with respect to the purposes of each fund. There is no opportunity for the formulation of a rule to which all expenditures might be expected to conform.

Thus, if the theme or policy were to be that the federal government should spend money only for those things which properly belong to the federal function, there would be no method whereby adherence to the rule could be carried out unless a special committee were set up in both houses of congress, to review all national expenditures in the light of the formula prescribed.

In other words, a budget bureau merely sets forth in systematic form the desires of the executive branch of the government and its ideas with respect to policy. There is no analogous body in either house of congress to go over a budget with an idea of determining what is a federal policy and what is a function that properly belongs to the states and the cities.

Similarly, there is no cross-examination of witnesses who appear in behalf of special appropriations unless such interrogation is conducted by members of congress themselves, many of whom are necessarily much less familiar with the project in hand than are the witnesses who appear before them. Lately it has been suggested that a consumer counsel should appear before the Tariff Commission to act in behalf of the people generally. Similar suggestions have been made from time to time in respect to other governmental bodies.

If there were some government official who represented no political party and no region in particular and no special interest but merely the national interest—that is, the taxpayers' interest—it would be possible for such an officer to scrutinize governmental expenditures on behalf of legislative committees with an idea of determining whether a particular appropriation did or did not conform to the general rule.

Taxpayers Not Represented
As it is, the taxpayers generally have no representative to combat the testimony of the many special interests who appear before legislative committees. The members of congress themselves are in no position to combat organized groups because the latter hold the political club over their heads. Or-

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

ALWAYS THE SUIT FIRST
A vivid illustration of the superiority of Approach bidding occurred in the recent final session of the Eastern championship tournament for the possession of the Reisinger Cup, emblematic of team-of-four supremacy. Two of the greatest contract teams in the world were pitted against each other. The members of The Bridge World team were Mrs. Culbertson and Messrs. Waldemar von Zedwitz, Theodore A. Lightner and Michael Gottlieb. Playing against them was the team, the captain of which was Mr. P. Hal Sims, who had as team-mates Messrs. Willard Kurn, Oswald Jacoby and David Burnstine.

Almost all Contract players have learned that the best results are attained in almost all bidding situations by opening the bidding with suit bids and gradually approaching the correct final contract. Mr. Sims is a believer in the Approach principle, but also considerable of an individualist, which, on the hand below, proved extremely disadvantageous.

organized minorities are so powerful in America that they can dictate to legislative committees just what shall and shall not be appropriated. Organizations like the Anti-Saloon League, Association Against National Prohibition, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, farm organizations, labor groups, have all learned how to play the bi-partisan game. They know how to organize committees in every congressional district and, whether the candidates are Republicans or Democrats, how to wield the threat of group voting. This method of political pressure is not confined to any one group. It is the accepted form of influencing legislation.

The power of these minority groups, however, is entirely due to the indifference of the average voter. It is safe to assume that if all the people in a district who are eligible to vote were to take an interest in public affairs and were to insist upon economy of at least the expenditure of public funds for stated purposes, the minority groups would lose their power. It is some governmental agency, particularly in congress, to decide to what extent the care of veterans is a federal responsibility, the government might not now today be saddled with all of this heavy expense. It is estimated that probably two-thirds of the annual expense, a sum approximately $750,000,000, goes to able-bodied citizens who were not injured in the war. If part of this burden had been distributed among the 48 states, the situation now would be very different and it would be easier to prevent the expense from mounting from year to year.

But the veterans groups are not the only ones that have insisted upon federal aid. Many business groups, which are quick to denounce expenditures for other purposes, have been at the federal trough for many years asking for funds. The same business men who cry out against governmental extravagance on the one hand are usually found signing petitions for a new post-office building or for the deepening of a harbor.

Chambers of commerce that come to congress and denounce the Farm Board are likely to be found also advocating some federal expense to benefit their particular locality. There is much hue and cry about government competition with business. The principal activity of the federal government which competed with private business is the parcel post, which put most of the express companies out of business. The question of whether the federal government should engage in parcel post operation came up 20 years ago. The farmers groups insisted upon it and gradually a huge business was built up. Today there is hardly a congressman who would vote for the repeal of the Parcel Post act. It has become imbedded in the federal structure.

The national policy on the subject of competition with business has never been clearly defined but the trend has been in the direction of removing the government from any business which could be operated successfully without government aid. Thus the entrance of the government into the field of stabilization operations was supported wholly on the theory that the farmers could not get private capital to assist them in the marketing of their products or in stabilization operations. The latter, of course, has been a matter of much controversy but nearly everybody, including members of the farm board, now agrees that stabilization operations are not economically sound and that the only reason they were embarked upon was to save several hundred banks in the middle west who were threatened with failure.

But the fundamental principle, whether the federal government should lend money or extend direct aid to groups, is one which has not been defined by congress. Relief for the drought-stricken areas in Arkansas, loans directly to farmers for seed, loans to railroads, loans to cooperative marketing organizations, are all part of a rapidly growing belief that the federal government is the court of last resort when there is distress prevalent in the land. The idea that these needs should be completely refused or at least that some of them should be placed back upon the states has not developed in the national legislature.

Controversy Coming
This is one of the subjects on which there will be much controversy in the immediate future, particularly when the presidential and congressional campaigns have eliminated from the subject much of the politics that is now involved in it. It is a safe prediction that the December session of congress will see more commonsense with respect to legislation and particularly governmental expenditure than the present session.

But none of the economy measures, particularly the cutting of costs in governmental operation and the prevention of new appropriations, can be accomplished without the active and alert interest of the taxpayers. These are signs on the horizon that the taxpayers are arming for the fray. This is the most healthful sign in a generation.

(Tomorrow's article, the last of the series, will deal with practical plans for balancing the budget.)

BY CLAUDE A. JACGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—The stock market was still staggering under the weight of a new selling tide today. Prices averaged a new low for the eighth successive session. Trading was again in only moderate volume, and the numerous losses of 2 to more than 4 points again reflected the absence of buyers rather than large scale liquidation.

By early afternoon, there was some letup in the selling, and fractional recoveries appeared here and there. The selling embraced most important groups, but was particularly conspicuous in the utilities. Issues off about 2 to 4 to new lows for the cycle included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, North American, Public Service of N. J., Consolidated Gas, Union Pacific, Sears Roebuck, Union Carbide, Safeway Stores and Eastman. Exceptional declines appeared in Detroit Edison off 7, and Peoples Gas, off 5, while a number of preferred issues declined sharply in a thin market.

The very length of the decline alone lead to expectations in brokerage quarters that something would have to intervene soon to bring a turn, but the business and financial news of the day failed to provide a basis for anything in the way of bullish effects.

The General Motors sales report for March was the principal item of corporate news, showing that domestic consumers bought 48,717 cars, slightly more than the 46,857 bought in February, but less than half the 101,339 for March of 1931. The ordering of the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents by Nash Motors was also a favorable development.

The gain of $19,000,000 in currency in circulation shown in the weekly federal reserve statements was somewhat discouraging. This was against the normal trend. Circulation dropped $10,000,000 in the like week of last year, and $23,000,000 two years ago, and $22,000,000 three years ago. The upturn, after the recent substantial return of currency to banks, presumably reflected the adverse effects of taxation uncertainty, declining security prices, and disappointing business returns.

The breakup of the Danube conference in London was disappointing, in view of the critical financial situation in central Europe. The fact however, that the reichsbank was able to reduce its rate to 5 1/2 per cent was somewhat encouraging. Nevertheless, the reichsbank's foreign exchange situation was still regarded as difficult.

Vigorous scotching of propaganda against the dollar in Paris was gratifying to international banking circles, where the recent strength of the French franc had been regarded as artificial, in view of the marked impairment of French foreign trade in recent months. Some further outflow of gold from New York to Paris is now expected, with some Wall Street bankers expressing the view that it would be helpful if Wall Street were to get entirely rid of French balances.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

London—Prices on the stock exchange were depressed and recorded general declines due to the failure of the Danubian conference and the obscure Continental outlook. Glitche of securities and shares rattled later and the market closed irregular. Argentine bond and rail issues were weak.

Paris—A weak tone prevailed on the bourse despite the fact that the result of the London conference was well discounted. Although the opening tone was resistant, general declines occurred and the closing tone was heavy.

Berlin—Prices on the bourse declined despite the reduction of the Reichsbank discount rate to five and one half per cent and private rates to five and a quarter per cent.

LIQUIDATE UTILITY SHARES ON MARKET

Chicago—(AP)—Liquidation of utility shares stood out prominently today. Edison and Public Service were the principal sufferers. Edison fell more than 9 from its opening of 73 1/2. Meanwhile Public Service no par was off 5 1/2 to 48. Middle West held around 7. Acme Steel was also under ressure.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE

Vernon Klitzke and Clarence Edward Wittlin have perfect attendance records for March at La Follette school, Ellington. Miss Arnelia Sambe is the teacher.

DEMAND FOR CHEAP BEEF ON MARKETS

Supplies Absorbed Readily at Slightly Increased Prices

Chicago—(AP)—Cheap beef demand has kept low-priced steers out in front this week, but buying of cattle has not been discriminatory and even on the light run offered today buyers did not neglect any class of offerings. The market has been satisfactorily stabilized, supplies being absorbed readily at prices which show a moderate advance for the week. Packers checked in 100 head of cattle today and most of the 2,000 in the open market consisted of common to good steers.

Further improvement was noted in the hog trade, but buyers restrained themselves from exhibiting any signs of the extent of their need. With the better demand for pork in the eastern markets, sellers guessed that packers here would be in need of larger supplies to replenish their surplus stocks, which melted away rapidly this week.

Packing plants reported 3,000 hogs received on direct billing. About 12,000 fresh and 6,000 stale hogs were available on the open market and initial trading was fairly active. A steady to a higher basis. Select 170 lb. lights were wanted at $4.45, but most trading within the first hours ranged from $4.30 to $4.40.

The net result of the week's market in live mutations was still to be determined at the opening of today's session with 10,000 sheep and lambs received, 1,200 of which went direct to packers. Stubborn opposition to the packers' plan to reduce costs of the choice fat lambs, which were wanted at $4.45, but most trading within the first hours ranged from $4.30 to $4.40.

COUNCIL BACKS APPOINTMENT OF CITY MOTORCOP

Instructs Commission to Purchase New Machine for Officer

Kaukauna—Aldermen approved the transfer of $40.00 from the contingent fund to the utility fund at an adjourned meeting of the common council in the municipal building Tuesday evening. The motion was introduced by Alderman Eathen Brewster, chairman of the finance committee.

Adjourning as a committee of the whole, the council canvassed the votes cast in the Tuesday election. Alderman G. L. Smith acted as chairman.

Louis J. Faust, chairman of the fire and police commission, asked the sentiment of the council on appointment of motorcycle officer here soon. He also asked the council's opinion on the purchase of motorcycle for the new officer, after submitting a report of the expenditures in the upkeep of the motorcycles used by former officers.

Unanimous approval of the appointment of a motorcycle officer was voiced by the aldermen. Alderman Walter Cooper, Ben Bell, G. L. Smith, and E. Brewster told of various incidents indicating the need of the motorcycle officer. Following the discussion the council recommended that the commission make their appointment after conferring with the chief of police, and instructed the chairman of the commission to purchase a motorcycle.

Building Complaints
That numerous complaints have been received because of the condition of the old Mill building on the corner of Main-ave and Third-st and the Norton building on Dodge-st was pointed out by Alderman Jacob Lummerding and Mayor E. W. Fargo. The Mill building was recently gutted by fire and the walls remain standing. During the period of a recent windstorm several pieces of the old building fell to the street, endangering the safety of pedestrians, according to Alderman Lummerding.

One incident was reported where a brick from the structure fell within several feet of a pedestrian. That the old building is a detriment to the appearance of surrounding buildings also was pointed out by Alderman Lummerding. Mayor Fargo reported that a number of complaints had been received because of the condition of the Norton building on Dodge-st. Both of the buildings will be investigated by Fire Chief A. Luckow, and owners of the structures will be requested to raise or repair them.

Chief of Police R. H. McCarty pointed out the need of stop and go lights at the intersection of Lave-st and Taylor-st, and at the intersection of Wisconsin-ave and Lave-st. No action was taken on the matter.

Bills were allowed and the reports of the city poor commissioner and the chief of police were received. The council adjourned to Tuesday evening, April 19, when the new council will be seated. There will be no changes in the new council.

Roses of ROYAL PURPLE

Ample and gold have long been associated with kingly things. The colors seem to signify "Monarch."

So, too, does the purple and gold of the Buckstaff Burial Vault mean monarch—the leader in burial protection.

You can always identify the Buckstaff Burial Vault by its royal purple beauty and gold handles, and by the Buckstaff label on the end.

We endeavor to provide a service that will be a comfort to the bereaved and an honor to the deceased. We recommend the use of the Buckstaff Burial Vault.
